Johnson Flies to Hawaii for Talks

Non-Military Viet Nam Aids To be Stressed

Meeting Unlikely To Produce Change In Tactics of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's mid-Pacific conference on Viet Nam appears aimed at underscoring "country building" economic and social aspects of the U S effort, rather than heralding any dramatic new military direction in the war.

Johnson also may be trying to give Asia — and the rest of the world — a picture of a U.S. president journeying thousands of miles to Honolulu to meet South Viet Nam's top leaders and confer with them as equals. The Communists often have derided Saigon's leaders as puppets.

Announcement of the trip came against a backdrop of rising Senate criticism of the administration's Viet Nam course.

"Working Over"

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which grilled Secretary of State Dean Rusk for four hours last Friday, gave Foreign Aid Administrator David E. Bell an all-day working over Friday and scheduled more hearings for next week.

Not only will Johnson's trip overshadow any news from the hearings but the President is taking along Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and presidential adviser, who had been announced as the committee's witness for next Monday.

The makeup of the U.S. party was heavily weighted on the side of officials concerned with diplomatic, economic and social facets of the multibillion-dollar U.S. program to preserve South Viet Nam's independence and transform it into a viable state.

The military situation also will be discussed. But government sources indicated strong doubt that any sharp alterations in course will result.

Renewed Bombing

The renewed bombing of North Viet Nam targets is bound to be a major topic.

So far, the bombing has been restricted to about the same kinds of military targets as were raided before the 37-day pause. These targets have been well south of Hanoi. North Viet Nam's capital.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, top U.S. commander in Viet Nam, will have an opportunity to make a face-to-face pitch, if he wishes, for a higher level of targeting in North Viet Nam.

There have been no recent sharp swings in the tide of the war to cause U.S. authorities any special concern.

Actually, the military course and the buildup of men and materiel in Viet Nam have been pretty well charted already.

Biggest Prize of War?

Massive Military Move Shaping Up Against Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A giant allied military operation against the Viet Cong in the central coastal plains of South Viet Nam shaped up tonight as the U S 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division committed a second brigade and American Marines on the northern flank started to move south.

On the perimeter of a 15 square mile area were two South Vietnamese airborne units and elements of the South Korean marines.

The U S Marines in the north, a task force of multiple regiment size, has been on the scene as the top end of the nutcracker since an amphibious landing eight days ago.

The air cavalry now is operating on division level, a U. S. Army spokesman said

Biggest Prize of War

What lies between the slowly converging forces may be as many as four or five regiments of hard-core Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars The prize is the biggest of the war

The evolution of what could become a huge battle around Bong Son, 290 miles northeast of Saigon, grew out of the 1st Cavalry's successful probes against Viet Cong territory in the past week The troopers found not only hard-core battalions but also one whole North Vietnamese regiment and another regiment which was about half and half of both types.

What once was called Operation Masher chalked up 518 Communist troops killed, 120 captured, 582 suspects detained, a spokesman said, adding that 75 per cent of the suspects have been established as either Viet Cong or highly pro-Viet Cong.

There is no estimate of the number of wounded dragged away by the Viet Cong. Some officers said they thought there must have been at least 1,000 They added that wounded Viet Cong in the jungles often turn out to be "killed in action" for lack of care and medicine

Beachhead Expanded

As Masher reached all its objectives, the cavalry changed its name to White Wing and 20 miles to the north the U S Marine amphibious forces in operation Double Eagle expanded their beachhead. Now, a military authority said, the Marines are inching south. The terrain is rugged, mountainous in spots, and hard to traverse.

From the Cu Chi area, 20 miles northwest of Saigon, AP photographer Al Chang reported a company of the 25th Infantry Division was hit by a force of Viet Cong and suffered light to moderate casualties. The infantrymen said they took a heavy toll of the enemy, but there was no estimate of the number.

The Viet Cong struck by surprise from trenches and spider holes, using rifle grenades to inflict most of the casualties.

Plans Review Of War, Aid To Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flew to Hawaii today to review the course of the Viet Nam war and to step up the flow of American health, education and farm aid to beleaguered Vietnamese villagers.

The President announced at a news conference in his office Friday that he will hold three days of talks in Honolulu with South Vietnamese leaders and U S diplomatic and military officials in South Viet Nam. Johnson will be accompanied by four Cabinet officers and other top advisers

His announcement came amid renewed congressional criticism of the administration's Viet Nam policies following the refusal of Secretary of Defense Robert S McNamara to testify at a future public session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Meetink With Ky

Among those who will meet with Johnson in Hawaii are South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, U.S Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen William C Westmoreland. Accompanying Johnson will be Secretary of State Dean Rusk, McNamara, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L Freeman and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner.

Johnson said he would remain in Hawaii until Tuesday night, returning here sometime Wednesday.

The dual military-civilian nature of the complete review Johnson said would be made of the U.S. program held out a promise that the American effort will be rounded out to reach the rice paddy workers some in Congress have been calling the forgotten men of the war.

Johnson made it clear, however, that the meetings are not going to be the prelude to any major shift in military policy such as some of his critics have been demanding.

No Changes Likely

"That is not anticipated at all," he said. "I wouldn't anticipate . . making any changes one way or the other." But he added: "I wouldn't say that we wouldn't learn some things from the meeting that would cause us to either improve the situation or strengthen it."

The fact that Johnson is being accompanied by Freeman and Gardner — as well as Rusk and McNamara — drew applause from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Mansfield, principal author of the grim report on the war which touched off congressional debate on Viet Nam, said Johnson was taking the initiative in doing all we can in the fields of health, education and agriculture for the people of South Viet Nam."

Russian People 'in Dark' About Moon

Newspaper Readers Throughout World See Photo Transmissions, But Nothing in Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — Photos sent from the moon by the Soviet moon Union's Luna 9 were seen today by newspaper readers almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union.

Soviet officials continued to withhold the pictures from public view. Instead, Soviet newspaper readers saw such headlines as "Dream Coming True" and "We'll Be Seeing You, Moon!"

Papers also published pictures of two pennants aboard the spacecraft and photos of the moon taken through telescopes on earth, but gave no indication when the close-up photos received from Luna 9 would be released.

Rocky Landscape

The Soviet military newspaper Red Star disclosed that the spacecraft had landed slightly off target after its 3½-day flight but gave no further details.

Luna 9's radio began transmitting photographs of the rock-strewn landscape after the unmanned spacecraft made history Thursday night.

The British observatory at Jodrell Bank intercepted the signals, fed them through a newspaper's Wirephoto equipment and converted the dots of light and shade into sharp pictures that were then relayed to much of the world.

Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank director, said the pictures were "quite sensational." He indicated he was puzzled that Soviet officials released some information on them but did not publish the pictures themselves.

"I don't know the reason for that," he said, "but it is slightly strange in that they have taken the trouble to announce the frequency and transmitted on standard scanning lines."

Lovell said it was possible the Russians deliberately intended to have Jodrell Bank's sensitive, 250-foot-wide radio antenna pick up the photos. "I doubt if the Russians are getting better pictures," he added.

The huge, saucer-shaped radio telescope monitored three complete pictures in 45 minutes. The fourth was of poor quality.

Lovell said Luna 9 apparently was landed so it would be in sunlight for 14 days. Transmission could be expected over that period, he said, but it was not known what would happen after the equipment package was plunged into the lunar night.

Lovell said the first few photographs "tend to confirm the view that the moon's surface is hard, sponge-like and of a pumice stone substance. It would be perfectly satisfactory, not only for the landing of men, but for heavy vehicles."

The scientist said that the dust on the moon's surface seemed to be only a few inches thick in the area photographed.

Earthquakes Rock Greece; Toll Unknown

Government Calls State of Emergency; Hundreds Homeless

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A series of earthquakes rocked central Greece before dawn today, killing at least one person, injuring more than 50 and leaving hundreds homeless.

The Greek government declared a state of emergency in the area and sent army rescue teams and medical supplies.

The tremor's epicenter was near Kardhitsa, about 150 miles northwest of Athens. The towns of Fourna, Alestia and Krenti were totally destroyed and 10 other settlements left 80 per cent uninhabitable, reports said.

A 30-year-old mother of six children died when she was caught in the collapse of her farm house

Social Welfare Minister Michael Galinos left for the area by helicopter and ordered all available tents sent to shelter the homeless.

Homes Abandoned

Most residents abandoned their homes at the first tremor, shortly after midnight. As they scurried out in the dim light a more severe shock followed seconds later, knocking down many buildings. Some victims were caught in their sleep.

Reports reaching Athens said many of the homeless took refuge in schools and churches The injured were evacuated to the nearest towns.

National police continued to search debris for more injured.

Judge Rejects Vote Rights Suit

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A federal judge has thrown out a Justice Department suit against Louisiana plantation owners accused of evicting Negroes for trying to vote.

U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West of Baton Rouge said property rights are sacred and the Voting Rights Act is "flagrantly violative of the Constitution."

The 34-page typewritten decision was filed Friday in the first court test on the voting intimidation section of the Voting Rights Act.

Elderly Woman Is 82nd Traffic Victim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of an elderly woman struck by a car driven by a relative has pushed Wisconsin's 1966 traffic toll to 82, compared with 78 on this date last year.

Mrs Florence Richards, 71, a Salem widow, was injured fatally Friday when hit by an auto as she crossed a street to mail a letter.

Apparent Suicide Victim

Son of Bishop Pike Dies in Hotel Room

NEW YORK (AP) —Police say a youth identified as the son of Protestant Episcopal Bishop James A Pike of California killed himself in a Manhattan hotel

Papers on the body identified the victim as James A. Pike, 22, of San Francisco He was shot to death in his sixth-floor room at the Hadson Hotel Friday

News of the death was withheld from Bishop Pike until he had completed an address to the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of California, which he heads.

When told he leaned forward and said hoarsely, "Oh, my God!" He quickly regained his composure and said later, "I just don't understand it The boy seemed reasonably happy."

Returned from England

A spokesman said, "The bishop believes it almost inevitable certainty that the dead boy is his son."

The bishop and his son had returned from England Wednesday Pike continued to California for the convention and the youthb stopped in New York to spend a few days.

Bishop Pike, on a year's sabbatical, has been attending Cambridge University. His son accompanied him to England last September

Police said the youth's body was found by a bellboy at 1:45 p.m. Friday He had been shot in the head with a 30-30 rifle found on the body A first shot apparently missed and struck the ceiling

Officers said the youth left a long, rambling suicide note that ended with the words, "Goodbye, goodbye." They declined to reveal the contents of the note

Controversial Bishop

Aides to the bishop said he had no immediate plans to go to New York. The body is to be identified by the dean of the Cathedral Church of St John the Divine a close friend of the Pikes

The bishop has been a powerful and controversial figure in the Protestant Episcopal Church since he gained worldwide stature by questioning some of the doctrines held fundamental to Christian belief These include the Virgin birth, the Trinity and the consistency and infallibility of the Bible

Last year he was tried on eight charges of heresy, but the bishops of the Church rejected the accusations.

Political Facade for Viet Cong?

Little Known About Leaders of Reds' National Liberation Front

MOSCOW (AP) — Hanoi's demand that the United States recognize the heads of the Communist National Liberation Front as sole true representatives of the people of South Viet Nam raises a question: Who are these leaders?

They are little known outside areas held by the Viet Cong and perhaps not too well known in those areas.

They are more likely to be a political facade for the Viet Cong than to be in control of the Viet Cong.

The front's Commission for Foreign Relations has published a booklet on its leaders. It was distributed here by the office of the front's Moscow representative. The office declined to answer additional questions but information is available from other sources

Trained in France

The head of the front is Nguyen Huu Tho, 55. Trained in law in France, he practiced in Saigon.

During Ho Chi Minh's war against the French in Indochina, Tho's "courageous defense of members of the resistance brought before the court earned him recognition by his colleagues as an outstanding representative of the Vietnamese intelligentsia," the booklet says.

Tho was deported from Saigon after leading demonstrations in early 1950. He lived in the north until the 1954 Geneva agreement that ended French rule, then returned to Saigon and was soon jailed for activities against the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

Tho was released in 1961 and has been in the jungles since then. Communist journalists who have met him recently say he is a wispy little man in khaki living in a well-built hideaway.

Tho's title is president of the Presidium of the Central Committee of the front.

Classic Organization

The front is organized in a classic Communist way. The 11-man Presidium is the steering committee for a larger Central Committee. The committee draws members from the various political factions and committes united against the Saigon government

The only Presidium member identified as a member of the Viet Nam People's Revolutionary party — the South Viet Nam Communist party — is Vo Chi Cong, 53. A rebel from the age of 18, he was sentenced by the French to life at hard labor but escaped at the end of World War II.

Vo is one of six vice presidents of the Presidium. The others are:

Abih Aleo, 64, a Protestant from the Edeh minority nationality and a former French army officer sentenced to death by the French in 1946 for revolutionary activities He is a founder and now president of the autonomous nationalities' movement of Tay Nguyen.

Ex-Diem Physician

Dr. Phung Vun Chung, 56, was a physician working for the Diem government until 1960 when he joined the Viet Cong He is identified as president of the South Viet Nam Military and Civil Health Council.

Venerable Thom Me The Nhem, 40, a Buddhist monk who is president of the Buddhist Chastisement Council of Bac Lieu Province. He is supposed to represent "patriotic Cambodians" in South Viet Nam.

Huynh Tan Phat, 52, an architect and propagandist who is

Make a Basket for Flowers Covered With Shiny Foil

BY CAPPY DICK

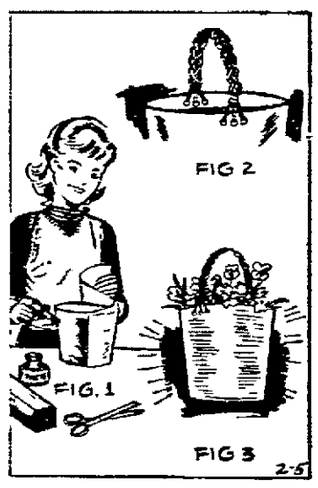
A basket for a bouquet of flowers for a shut-in friend can be made quickly from a round cardboard carton of pint or quart size. Such cartons often are used to hold ice cream, cottage cheese and other foods. The flowers for the basket may be real or artificial.

Wash the carton to be sure it is clean. Then cover the outside with aluminum foil. You will also need some ribbon for a handle.

In Figure 1 the girl is pasting the foil to the side of the carton. Overlap the edge at the top. On the outside bottom paste a circle of foil.

At one side near the top make three holes (Figure 2). Cut three pieces of ribbon, each a foot and a half long. Thread the ribbons through the holes at one side of the carton, threading from the outside to the inside. Tie the three ends together in a knot inside the carton. Then braid the ribbons smoothly to make a handle.

When the braid is long enough, thread the three remaining ends through the holes at the other side and tie them in a firm knot.



Try an ice cream carton.

inside the basket. This completes the basket and it will look like that in Figure 3 after it has been filled with flowers.

Nun Declares Method, Not Truths Change

KAUKAUNA — "Only the method of teaching religion has changed, the truths have not changed," said Sister Marie Raymond, Sts. Peter and Paul School, Green Bay, in addressing the Holy Cross Home-School Association Tuesday night.

Changes in the liturgy are aimed at helping Christians to live their faith, the dogmas are not being changed. The central action of the mass is not being changed, only the manner is being changed so we can live our faith more effectively, she continued.

According to the speaker, "teaching of religion stresses the positive approach to religion based on a love of God, the commandments, the Bible and the liturgy of the mass. The liturgy ties in with the Biblical and historical approach in teaching the faith more effectively."

Vandals Turn Off Heat; Pipes Burst At One Spot Stop

Extensive water damage resulted when vandals broke into the One Spot Stop, 1408 N. Meade St., Wednesday night or early Thursday and turned off valves in water pipes leading to a boiler-type furnace.

Appleton police, who were informed of the incident Thursday, said the building, which has been closed for some time, was entered by forcing a front door. They said the pipes leading to the furnace cracked when water froze.

The first-floor and basement of the building were flooded with about an inch and a half of water, police said.

Cheese Summary

MADISON (AP) — The Agricultural Marketing Service reported today that a confident tone prevailed on the Wisconsin cheddar cheese market this week. Demand was generally fair to good. Longhorns and current 40-pound cutting blocks were in short supply with other current styles about adequate to ample.

American Cheese production in the week ending Jan. 27 increased 5 per cent in both Wisconsin and the nation. Output was estimated at 18.9 million pounds. This was 5 per cent less than in the same week a year ago.

The Swiss cheese market was steady with prices unchanged. Demand was fair to good. Snow disrupted delivery in eastern markets with arrivals coming in one totwo days later.

Green Bay Cheese

GREEN BAY (AP) — Price levels were up as much as ½ cent on various styles at the end of trading today at the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange. Trading was fairly active.

Two sales of state brand barrel cheese at 39¼ were ¼ cents higher than previous levels, but a later sale at 39½ reflected a ½ cent increase in this style.

Other styles at higher price levels, reflected by unfilled bids, were: state brand 60 lb blocks 41; state brand 40 lb blocks 41; state brand pasteurized single daisies 43¼ and state brand pasteurized longhorns 43½.

Your Problems

Hospital Patient Has Right to Insist on Privacy During Care

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Friday our 21-year-old daughter went to the hospital to have her first baby. She was not a charity patient. The hospital is one of the most expensive in the city.

When our daughter was wheeled into the delivery room a nurse brought in five young student nurses. She said: These girls are here to observe. I hope you don't mind. Our daughter did mind a great deal — but she was afraid to say so.

The delivery was a very difficult one. Her husband feels it would have been much easier if she had not been forced to have an audience. My husband and I are furious.

We want to know if hospitals have the right to do this. Can she sue for invasion of privacy? — Enraged Mother

Dear Mother: Student nurses must witness all types of hospital procedures. They did not come into the delivery room to see sights. They came to learn.

If your daughter's doctor was in the delivery room when she arrived she should have told him of her objections. If he was not there she should have sent for him instead of remaining silent.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our nine-year-old son Jerry is a bright student and reads at the sixth grade level. He devours at least four books a week, in addition to doing all his homework and getting a straight A report card.

Few TV shows interest Jerry, but there are two educational programs he likes very much. My husband goes for the trash. If it's a crime story or a shoot-'em-up it's right up his alley.

Last night Jerry was watching one of his favorite programs. His father came in and without a word, he changed channels. The boy said nothing but he was very put out. I hate to side with my son but when the lines are so clearly drawn and my husband is in the wrong, what can I do? — Janus

Dear Janus: You have two children, and the nine-year-old is the more mature of the two.

Of course your husband is wrong but don't side with your son against him. Tell Jerry that Dad gets first choice because he is the man of the house. (P.S. Start now to save for a portable TV for Jerry.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother is a wonderful woman but she has one fault that bothers me. I would not say she is a liar — but she exaggerates so much that it could almost be called lying.

I hear her telling on the phone about it. If she had just had five people to dinner she says there were ten. If she paid $40 for a set of dishes she says she paid $100. This morning she told my aunt that she worked at the church rummage sale until after 7 p.m. last night. She was home at 4 p.m. when I got there.

Why does she do it? Please print this letter and maybe she will recognize herself.—Disappointed

Dear Disappointed: Some people have the rabbit habit — facts multiply in their mouths.

Exaggerators want to make a big impression and they don't trust the facts to do the job. So — they embellish and torture a story until nothing is left of the truth.

These people are to be pitied because after awhile nobody believes a word they say.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

to ruff. Declarer led the queen of trumps, and all hands played low.

South smiled and led another trump, and then it was East's turn to smile. East was Eddie Kantar, famous West Coast expert, and it was foolish of South to think that Kantar had made a mistake in refusing the first trump trick.

Kantar now took both high trumps and led a heart. This forced South to use up the thirteenth trump. Declarer could run his clubs, but as soon as he touched diamonds West could take the ace of diamonds and two hearts. Down two.

Shrewd Refusal

East could not defeat the contract if he took the first trump. For example, if East took his two trump tricks at once and led a heart, South would ruff and would lead diamonds to force out the ace. If West then led another heart, dummy could ruff, and South would get to his hand with a club to draw the last trump. He would then take the rest of the tricks without any problem.

When South won the first trick with the queen he should see the danger of leading another trump. Now his only chance is to get a 3-3 break in both diamonds and clubs—and he would get it.

South must abandon trumps in order to knock out the ace of diamonds. If West returns another heart, South ruffs and takes three club tricks and a total of two diamonds. Declarer then ruffs his last diamond in dummy.

East can over-ruff, but the defenders get only two high trumps and the two red aces. South makes his contract — and only then can he permit himself a smile.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I have a time and motion short-cut that works wonders when rain starts.

In your race against raindrops to your washline — to get laundry indoors ahead of a downpour — here's a strategy for such speed you'll surprise yourself:

Hang your clothespin bag on the clothesline to your right (if you're right-handed), and slide it from right-to left as you work.

Thrust your left arm into a bra strap as you pinch off the spring-type clothespin: thrust your arm through the legs in shorts, etc.

You can spear children's clothes from hem to neck. Pick up nylon hose by the pair at the lowest point, and wrap them once around your left wrist. Snatch the clothespins, and go on to the next garment.

Only nightgowns, men's shirts, pillowslips, towels, etc., must be tossed over the left shoulder because they are long.

In less time than it takes to tell, you will have your sweet-smelling wash "down", pins in the bag, and be winning that final dash to the indoors, safe from the oncoming rain!

Peg Robinson

Peg, you are just as right as can be. You don't have all those little things falling off your shoulder or arm . . . so that they get soiled or stepped on.

Thanks for sharing your method with all our over-the-backfence neighbors.

Dear Heloise:

When moving from one city to another, I find it a wonderful idea to tuck in my old phone directory, too! This way I always have the addresses from the previous city of not only my friends, but also cleaners (and sometimes we leave cleaning there and forget it), laundry, etc.

Dear Heloise:

When we bought new kitchen cabinets, I came up with a handy trick for the bottom sink cabinet where I store my dishpan, drainer, cleanser, etc.

I cut and hemmed a turquoise bath towel to match the kitchen, and lined the floor of the bottom cabinet.

The towel catches all those little drips, and protects the cabinet floor finish as well.

Dear Heloise:

Here's something I discovered which makes a bowl of canned soup more filling and satisfies like a meal:

I break a few pieces of bread, or some crackers, into a pan, add the amount of water which the canned or packaged soup calls for, and boil it about one minute. Then I dump in the soup.

It sure gives it body!

Now, what do you think?

I think every mother needs a hot lunch, and this is a good way to get it.

After testing your method, I learned I could sprinkle a few dehydrated onions in the water first, and let them boil a minute or so, then put in the bread just like you said—and follow it up with the soup.

Sure makes a tasty meal. Thanks, pal.

Types of Tranquilizers, Sleeping Pills Explained

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between sleeping pills and tranquilizers? How do they affect the nervous system? Are non-prescription pills of either type reliable? — W.F.

In general sleeping pills are usually in the barbital category, either singly or in combination with other drugs, since there are several which have sleep-producing effects.

Dr. Molner

These drugs act by depressing certain centers of the brain — so you go to sleep. The tranquilizers, however, ordinarily act by altering the chemical phases of nerve impulses in other areas of the nervous system. Thus muscle relaxation, and a calming effect, promote sleep.

Still others work on the basis of their analgesic, or pain-relieving properties. The salicylates (aspirin and similar agents) are in this category. The antihistamines belong in this general grouping. (There are, of course, powerful narcotic pain-killers, but I am not including them in today's discussion. They certainly aren't to be classed as "sleeping pills.").

The non-prescription sleeping pills are usually a combination of salicylate and antihistamine, with possibly a derivative of belladona added, and in concentrations sufficient to ease discomfort and let a person relax and sleep.

Every drug mentioned so far can be dangerous if used to excess, although the amount that becomes "excessive" varies. None should be used in combination with alcohol, because the combination can cause anything from slower reflexes to sleepiness, stupor and even death.

Be cautious about taking these drugs when driving a car. It doesn't require much slowing of the reflexes, or mental relaxation to make the difference between safety and disaster in traffic.

There are special types of drugs which belong, at least in general, in the tranquilizer group. Some allay vomiting and nausea (and seasickness). Others are called psychic energizers and give the depressed person a "pickup" effect without being, however, really stimulants.

The barbiturates are so potent and so capable, unless used in proper amount, of causing addiction that federal law requires that they be dispensed only on prescription. Some of the other drugs I have mentioned can be used in limited quantity without prescription. Even with them, though, I think there's something to be said for using them under prescription because then you know what you are taking and how much.

Some of the tranquilizers can cause addiction to some extent, too, but they certainly have a place in modern treatment, having advantages over barbiturates and bromides in that more subtle effects can be achieved.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that peanut butter will cause senility. I live with an elderly relative who is very fond of it. She covers a slice of bread with it, then dusts it all over with unflavored gelatine. Is there anything wrong with this combination? — B.W.E.

Peanut butter certainly does not cause senility. It's a perfectly good food. The added gelatine doesn't sound particularly tasty to me, but there's nothing wrong with the combination if your relative likes it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am allergic to iodine, and would like to know what foods contain it? — Mrs. J.C.

The principal ones are seafood. Also iodized salt. This is not true, however, of freshwater fish.

New Construction in Appleton $320,175 For Month of January

New construction got off to a good start in Appleton last month, adding up to $320,175.

Charles Magnette, Director of Inspections, said he expects 1966 will be a better building year than 1965.

In January of 1965 the new construction started here amounted to $297,140.

The major project started here last month was construction of the $180,000 Huntley School addition.

Consolidated Papers, Inc. obtained a permit to construct a $52,900 office building.

Three new homes were started in January.

Credit Union Assets Jump 18 Per Cent

Outagamie County Employers Credit Union reported at its recent annual meeting that assets increased 18 per cent in 1965 to $245,549.

There are now 386 members in the group, owning shares valued at $228,673. The credit committee reported 190 loans totaling $100,270 were made. More than $600,000 has been loaned to members since its organization.

A 4 per cent dividend was paid shareholders and an interest refund of 10 per cent was paid to borrowers.

Three directors and one credit committee member were elected: James Holzer and Ethel Steidl, Appleton, and Otis Reimers, Shiocton, were elected to the board of directors.

Harold Kobussen, Kaukauna, was elected to a three-year term on the credit committee and Fern Shadduck, Neenah, was elected to fill the unexpired term of James McDaniels, who resigned as president.

Three Injured In Bus Mishap

Crash Near Oshkosh Involved 39 From Stevens Point Area

OSHKOSH — Three occupants of a school bus carrying 39 persons from the Stevens Point area were advised to see physicians after the school bus, driven by Walter S. Maluka, 46, Stevens Point, swerved to avoid a car on U.S. 41 at the Ninth Avenue intersection west of Oshkosh at 6:10 p.m. Friday. Maluka is listed as the bus owner.

Winnebago County police said a car driven by Paul E. Putzke, 22, 135 S. Pearl St., Berlin, was heading west on Ninth Avenue and had pulled into the center of the southbound lane. Unable to clear the lane because of traffic, he started to back up and into the path of the approaching bus. Maluka swerved the bus and struck a stop sign and highway marker pole to avoid a collision.

Listed as injured were Carl Strenke Jr., 18, route 3, Stevens Point, with a cut on the right hand; Wayne Dombrowski, 24, Stevens Point, glass in his eyes, and Karen Konkel, 15, Stevens Point, bump on the head.

Bad Conduct Case Against Appleton Man Continued to March 4

A disorderly conduct case against Cyril John Fischer, 27, 1114½ N. Durkee St., was continued to March 4 by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller Friday afternoon.

Fischer pleaded guilty to the charge brought by Appleton police who arrested him Jan. 31 in connection with a morals offense which took place at Viola and Glendale Streets.

Judge Keller continued the case to allow Fischer time to consult a physician and obtain a report for the court. Fischer was released on $500 bond.

Newspaper Rack Stolen

A newspaper rack containing about $15 in change was taken during the night from the Big Boy Coffee Shop, 3900 W. College Ave. Sheriff's department investigators were told the rack was outside the building.

Lawrence Lectures Set on 'Irony of American History'

"Irony of American History," a book by American theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, will be the subject of Freshman Studies lectures given this month by two members of the Lawrence University faculty.

Dr. E. Graham Waring Jr., chairman of the department of religion, will discuss the book in a lecture at 10:40 a.m. Thursday, in Stansbury Theatre.

A second address will be given by John M. Stanley, instructor in religion, Feb. 15. Time and location are the same.

Niebuhr's book is being discussed in Freshman Studies classes during the current academic term.

Dr. Waring, a member of the faculty since 1951, holds the E. M. Beach-E. B. Garton professorship in religious studies.

During the academic year 1963-64 Dr. Waring was on a research leave from Lawrence. His studies concerned polarities of Victorian religious thought.

Stanley joined the faculty in 1961. He taught earlier at Mills College, Oakland, Calif., and is a candidate for his doctorate in the field of religion and ethics at Columbia.

Youth Charged In Oneida Arson Back in Jail

Richard Allen Cornelius, 19, Milwaukee, charged with three counts of arson and one of criminal trespass in connection with fires that destroyed the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church and two barns in the Town of Oneida Oct. 31, was returned to jail from Central State Hospital late Friday afternoon.

Cornelius, a former rural West DePere resident, was ordered sent to the hospital Dec. 8 by Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren. According to the court order, the examination period was not to exceed 60 days.

The youth, arrested following an investigation by Outagamie County authorities is being held under $10,000 bond.

He probably will be returned to County Court Monday, authorities said this morning.

Shiocton Man Shoots Self

Tom Morse, 56, Dies Of Shotgun Wound After Auto Mishap

Tom Morse, 56, Shiocton, took his own life with a shotgun in his home about 4:25 p.m. Friday.

He died almost instantly of massive cerebral hemorrhaging and multiple skull fractures, according to Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps. Morse put the muzzle of his 16 gauge shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger, the coroner said.

The Shiocton native had suffered from arthritis for about 20 years and had to retire recently as a self-employed trucker, Kemps said. Morse was in a veterans hospital for nine days last month for treatment, it was learned.

Morse's car struck a utility pole early Friday afternoon on State 76, about a mile south of Shiocton, authorities said. He received a bump on the head in the mishap.

He returned home about 2:45 p.m. His wife, Evelyn, left the house for a short time and returned home at 4:25 p.m. to find the body in the basement.

The body was released to the Borchardt-Moder Funeral Home in Shiocton.

Appleton Couples Divorced in Outagamie Court

Two divorces were granted in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 Friday, both on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Joan A. Nelson, 49, 431 W. Winnebago St., received a divorce from Orville H. Nelson, 51, 516 Hubbard St., Green Bay. Married Dec. 10, 1938, the couple has two minor children.

Nelson was ordered to pay alimony and support of $65 a week. A property settlement also was approved.

In the second action, Robert Fischer, 23, 1012 Draper St., Kaukauna, was granted a divorce from Lereta Fischer, 22, California.

The couple was married Sept. 14, 1963. Nelson was awarded custody of a child.

Today's Deaths

Flowers Bob In Sea Near Crash Site

TOKYO (AP) — Flowers bobbed in the icy waters of Tokyo harbor today where a Japanese jet airliner crashed with 133 persons aboard, three minutes away from a safe landing.

The flowers were dropped by relatives who were taken in a small coastal freighter to the site of what appears to be the worst single plane disaster in history.

The All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727, with 126 passengers and crew members aboard, slammed into the choppy Tokyo harbor as it banked toward its final approach Friday night.

The plane was crowded with Japanese returning from the annual snow festival on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Most were carrying gaily wrapped souvenirs for family and friends.

Eighteen hours after the crash, nearly 100 bodies were still missing. Although it appeared almost certain no survivors would be found, airline officials declined to say all were dead.

Previously, the worst single-plane air disaster was the crash of an Air France Boeing 707 at Orly Field, Paris, June 3, 1962 when 130 persons died.

Cause of the Tokyo crash is still uncertain. Witnesses including fishermen and seamen in the harbor, reported seeing a huge fireball erupt in the sky. It was not known if the fireball occurred before or after impact.

Tipsy Driver Fined $175

Gerald A. Dohr Forced Police Squad Car to Curb

Gerald A. Dohr, 35, 1424 N. Charlotte St., was fined $175 and costs and his driver's license was revoked for one year Friday after he pleaded guilty of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants.

Dohr, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, was arested in the 100 block of S. Drew Street by Appleton police Thursday night.

Police said Dohr's car forced an oncoming squad car to the curb.

Outagamie Solons to be Busy

Courthouse Union, Police Merger to Confront Board

Recognition of a courthouse employes union, consolidation of the sheriff's and traffic departments, plans for parking facilities at the courthouse and airport affairs make up what promises to be a busy Outagamie County Board session Tuesday.

Airport business, a topic at nearly every board meeting, is expected to center on the effects of the Jan. 18 ruling by the United States 7th District Court of Appeals upholding a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) decision making Winnebago County and Green Bay sites of regional airports for North Central Airlines flights.

Last week the county board's airport committee voted to concur with a North Central request to the CAB for permission to end service to the Outagamie port at the end of this month.

Support Air Wisconsin

At the same time, the five-man committee indicated it would support Air Wisconsin, an Appleton airline with flights between the Fox Cities and Chicago.

Supervisors undoubtedly will want to know what effect North Central's pulling out will have on the county and what steps are being contemplated to fill the gap in service to and from the new Outagamie County Airport. The airport committee meets Monday morning.

At least one resolution from the airport unit will be submitted for action Tuesday. It asks approval to spend about $3,000 for purchase and installation of runway and "identifier" lights at the Outagamie facility. The high intensity lights would supplement existing lighting and would be used primarily during bad weather and low ceiling conditions.

Parking Proposal

Although it is not definite, a proposal may come from the public property committee asking board consideration for a plan to expand parking facilities at the courthouse.

Supv. Sylvester Esler Appleton 18, chairman of the property unit, said the proposal calls for converting a 45-foot wide strip of lawn and sidewalk in front of the courthouse to parking area which could accommodate up to 40 vehicles.

Such a plan would leave about 35 feet of lawn in front of the courthouse, Esler said. The possibility of parking meters on the proposed lot also is being discussed, it was learned.

No cost estimate has been obtained, Esler said.

Remodeling Study

Supervisors let it be known at the January board meeting that any clearance to remodel the courthouse, as has been proposed at a cost of about $375,000, would have to be preceded by an extensive study of first providing adequate parking.

The county board's law enforcement committee may bring in a proposal calling for study of a plan to combine the sheriff's and traffic departments under a chief deputy who would be second in command under a sheriff. The chief deputy would replace the undersheriff.

The proposal last came before the board in December and was referred to a joint committee of the law enforcement and executive committees for study.

Police Training

Several plans have been suggested at recent committee meetings and a final proposal could come at a Monday meeting of the law enforcement and executive units.

A resolution already prepared by the law enforcement committee asks approval to send up to six traffic patrolmen, including at least some of the five men to be hired soon, to an eight weeks training session in March and April at the State Patrol academy.

Cost for the six men would be $1,680. Supv. John Schreiter (Appleton 6) committee chairman, said he will ask to show a 20-minute film Tuesday concerning the academy and the training course.

James Miller, Green Bay, a representative of District 4, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employes, is scheduled to ask county board recognition of the Outagamie County Courthouse Employes Union.

Officers Elected

Temporary officers for the union were elected last week and a charter application has been sent to the state council. The charter application contained the signatures of 33 county employes.

County board officials have declined to speculate on reaction by supervisors to the request for recognition.

A proposal calling for a four-cent an hour across the board pay raises for employes of the county highway department and county institutions probably will be presented to the supervisors Tuesday.

The executive committee three weeks ago approved the raises following several months of negotiations with the union representing employes of the two departments.

Union representatives are expected to indicate at an executive committee meeting Monday if the 4 cent raises, effective May 1, meets with the approval of employes.

Nelson Visits People, Places At New London

Part of Day Spent Talking to Youths At High School

NEW LONDON — Sen. Gaylord Nelson spent Friday here just visiting places and people.

It was one of those uncommon days in the life of a politician when every minute was not spent making speeches. Nelson took advantage of this to visit with businessmen in an informal luncheon — and toured the Mo-Ski-Tow Hill Inc. facilities east of New London, addressed the New London High School student body and visited the home of a relative near Northport.

Day Begins Early

The senator's day began early Friday in Stevens Point. He traveled to Wausau about 10 a.m. for a news conference and then attended the luncheon at the Rainbow Supper Club about 12:30 p.m.

Delbert Beno, Waupaca County Democratic chairman, was the senator's escort throughout the day.

Following the lunch, Nelson toured the View Ridge facilities. He was taken on a snowmobile tour of the hill by club members.

Nelson said it was an excellent facility. He did not know of any federal funds available for improving the hill by adding snow-making equipment.

High School Visit

Nelson also took part in a question and answer period at the high school. He was the first senator to visit the school since the late President John Kennedy visited it a few months before his election.

He concluded his tour to the New London area with a visit with relatives.

As a boy Nelson used to visit the home and play along the shores of the Wolf River and Little Wolf River.

Friday evening he was the featured guest at the Seventh Congressional District National Farmers Organization meeting at Wittenberg.

Nelson spent the night at New London and then traveled to Green Bay.

Illegal Search Argued In Moonshine Arrests

Charges Against One Rural Shawano Man Dismissed; Trial of Four Others Delayed

SHAWANO — One defendant in a moonshining case involving five rural Shawano County residents was released from custody and a decision on a bindover of the other four men for trial was delayed until attorneys prepare briefs on the issue of illegal entry.

In Branch 2 of Shawano-Menominee County Court today Judge Ken Traeger dismissed charges of feloniously manufacturing and rectifying intoxicating liquor without a permit against Walter Egert, 52, route 3, Shawano.

Bail of $1000 each was continued on Otto Moede, 66; Jewel Raddant, 60; Fred Guetschow, 63, and Ervin Wegner, 40, all of route 3, Shawano.

Attorneys have 10 days to brief the judge on defense attorney Jack Schumacher's motion to dismiss charges on grounds of illegal entry and search.

Officers testified they entered the Moede home in the Town of Pella to make an arrest involving furnishing intoxicating beverages to minors when they discovered a 50-gallon barrel containing 30 gallons of fermenting mash. The defendants contended it was pig food.

Dist. Atty. Lloyd Andrews conceded that the mash could be fed to pigs "but you would have a bunch of drunken pigs," he said.

Officers later picked up on the Moede premises component parts which, when assembled, formed a still.

Hotel Blaze Broke Out in Storage Room

All Victims of Green Bay Fire Now Identified

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The fire that took the lives of eight persons and destroyed the Astor Hotel Friday morning started in a storage room on the first floor.

Asst. Chief Les Bramer, although unable to tell exactly what started the blaze that was fought for eight hours by Green Bay firemen, said the flames originated in the eight-by-eight foot room, spread up the stairway through the attic and to the roof.

"We could tell by the burn marks just where the fire went up," Bramer said. He said it was too early to make an estimate of damage, although tentative estimates reached $150,000.

5 Men, 3 Women

The blaze claimed the lives of five men and three women. Carried from the ruins were the charred bodies of Edna Cole, 68, Luxemburg; Myrtle Meunster, about 62, barmaid at the hotel; Josephine Cox, about 48, address undetermined; David La Prairie, 26, Wisconsin Rapids; Joseph Ferris, early 60's, Green Bay; Frank Corniea, 42, Astor Hotel; Eugene Ungelter, early 60's, Green Bay, and Charles Gould, about 45, Madison.

Detectives and inspectors who probed the ruins Friday had not discarded the possibility of discovering more bodies in the frozen and mangled debris.

There is no record of anybody missing, but authorities said it was not unusual for somebody to register as a guest at the hotel and then have a friend or two join him.

Industrial Unit At New London To Pick Officials

Reports Scheduled For Annual Parley of Opportunities Group

NEW LONDON — Three directors will be elected at the annual dinner meeting of New London Industrial Opportunities Inc. at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Rainbow Supper Club.

Members of the board said the meeting would be unusually important and all persons interested in the growth and development of the city have been asked to attend.

Sid CoBabe, Milwaukee, state co-ordinator of Positive Action for Community Enrichment, will speak. He has a background in newspaperwork, industrial promotion and community relations.

Three Directors

Three directors to succeed Dr. J. W. Monsted, Adolph Pichelmeyer and Fred Bernegger will be elected.

Joseph Obertin, president, will give a report on the group's activities and industrial promotions of the past year and current activities will be discussed.

Tickets to the annual meeting are being sold by Dr. Monsted, Pichlemeyer, Al Volz, Bernegger, Norman Kawell, M. A. Fuerst, C. J. Laux, Dave Smith, Obertin and Tom Graham.

Marion Group to Hear About Creative Child

Mrs. Harry Joren is program chairman and hostess co-chairmen are Mrs. Eugene Brandenburg and Mrs. Harold Helms.

2 Companies Testing Tires At Pine Lake

CLINTONVILLE — Two major tire companies, Goodyear and Goodrich of Akron, Ohio, are again conducting independent tests on tires at Pine Lake of Clover Leaf Lakes, near Rustic Resort, about eight miles north of here.

Crews have been here for a week and expect to remain for five or six more weeks. They share the ice which has been cleared for a circle, and a straight, traction, and snow tracks.

Both companies have conducted their research projects at Pine Lake for many years.

New London C of C

NEW LONDON — The chamber of commerce board of directors will approve committee appointments at a 7:30 p.m. Wednesday meeting in the City Museum.

Extensive Painting

New London City Hall Receiving 'New Look'

NEW LONDON — There is a new look about city hall.

Extensive painting of ceilings and walls is being carried out throughout the ancient structure and the remodeling of the outdated police department is nearly completed.

The police station work has resulted in the biggest change with three counters built in the department. The first counter serves as the main desk.

Lockers have been rearranged in the squad room and a storage cabinet, working desk and a gun cabinet added. The previous main entrance has been made over into the chief's office, located in the parking meter and work room off the main office area.

Although not utilizing any more floor space, the new arrangement has made things more accessible.

The council meeting room on the second floor is being painted.

Proposal Calls for Seven Man Commission; Recommendations On Park Sites to be Presented

Appeal to Winnebago Board

Wolf Unit Urges Rejection of Plan

5 Park Sites

[illegible] Fox Unit Opposition

[illegible] and Menominee [illegible] Grand Chute, Buchanan, Neenah [illegible] and Menasha and the villages [illegible] of Combined Locks, Kimberly, [illegible] and Little Chute.

Farce Confusion'

The Fox Valley unit's proposal would be "detrimental to both commissions" and would also be "unworkable and unrealistic" according to the Wolf planning unit's executive committee and commissioners.

Duane B. Sweet, commission representative from Winnebago County and county supervisor for Neenah's 2nd Ward, said he "can't help but feel the Fox Valley unit's proposal has definite political overtones."

Oppose Proposal

Stanley Perkins, Medina, who represents the Town of Dale on the Outagamie County Board, also registered his opposition to the proposal. Perkins is secretary of the county board's agriculture and conservation committee.

The statement said that if the counties joined the Fox Valley unit, "there would be no end to the resulting confusion and obstructions to the progress that is well underway.

"To have two planning commissions covering the same entire area of the county would be comparable to having separate water district committees, county highway committees and park and recreation committees", it continued.

Program not Limited

The statement, which was submitted by Gordon A. Bubolz, commission chairman, noted that "the commissioners are aware that the Wolf River program is not limited to watershed planning, but to the entire natural resources and economic base of the counties."

It noted that the Fox Valley unit's responsibilities lie in providing services for the metropolitan areas of the Fox Valley.

"It is our recommendation that the present arrangement continue for the greater good of both commissions and the public," the statement concluded.

The executive committee of the Fox Valley unit will meet next Thursday to consider the dispute. At that time, it is expected the committee will request a joint meeting with the executive committee of the Wolf.

NEW LONDON — [illegible] damage resulted to the home of David Thomas, route 2, early Friday as the result of a chimney fire.

The New London Fire Department was called to the home in Lebanon at 6:04 a.m. and had to clean the chimney and use smoke ejectors.

Knowles Urges Aid For Menominees

Outlines 5-Part 'Blueprint For Action' to Help Tribe

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Firm action must be taken to prevent Menominee County's unique [illegible] as a part of a [illegible] program of improving the economic health of the county and its residents, Gov. Warren P. Knowles said today.

Knowles called for a five-part "Blueprint for Action" to be coordinated by the Menominee Study Committee. He said the program would help to keep the Menominees from falling into an even more depressed condition.

Unless action is taken, Knowles said, the Menominees "may be compelled to accept any plan or proposal which might be highly unfair."

Knowles said the program must involve action by the study committee, Menominee Enterprises Inc., the county, the State Conservation Dept., the Department of Resource Development, and the Wolf River Planning Commission.

Blueprint Terms

The blueprint calls for:

Continued pressure [illegible] legislation such as [illegible] proposed in the 89th Congress [illegible] in timbers [illegible] Menominee [illegible] and the end of federal Indian reservation.

Urge Money Appropriation

He urged money be appropriated from the state general fund to the Conservation Dept. for a program of purchase or lease of the Dalles, the Virgin White Pines and other unique natural areas.

The coordination of all such efforts through the Menominee Indian Study Committee, which is headed by state senator Roger LaFave, R-Oshkosh, [illegible]

This, Knowles said, would avoid duplication of effort in the crash program.

He said that in the program of Economic Development of the county and the preservation of the scenic resources, both must be accomplished without [illegible] either county or state [illegible]

Faith, Good Shepherd Set Open House Week

Among 17 Congregations Participating In Event; List Special Services

Faith and Good Shepherd Lutheran Churches will be among the 17 congregations in the area participating in Lutheran Open House Week which will begin Sunday and last until Thursday.

Special morning evangelism services are scheduled at 8 and 10:30 a.m. services. Missionaries will preach at each of the services.

Rev. Virgil Joss, pastor, St. Paul Church, Bonduel, will speak at a 7 p.m. Sunday service and at the daily evening services at Faith Church.

Pastor Joss is a graduate of Concordia College in Milwaukee and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis.

A native of Wausau, he has held pastorates at Washington and Armada, Mich., and Junction City, Wis. Pastor Joss's theme will be "The Way to God."

Rev. Bernard C. Gumz, student pastor for Holy Family College, the University of Wisconsin Center and the county normal at Manitowoc, will be the guest speaker at Good Shepherd Church. "Christ and You" will be his topic.

A native of Cadott, Pastor Gumz is a graduate of Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. He has been pastor of Redeemer Lutheran, Manitowoc, and in Waupun.

Service Chaplain

Pastor Gumz also serves as chaplain for Coast Guard units in the lakeshore area and as zone and district pastoral adviser for the Lutheran laymen's League.

The mass Rally for Christ will take place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Brown County Arena, Green Bay. Rev. Paul L. Maier, D.D. Lutheran educator and author, will speak.

During the open house week a mission to ministers' program is planned. Monday's and Thursday's meeting is scheduled at Faith Church, Appleton; a dual session will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Neenah and Green Bay.

List Themes

Monday's theme will be "How to Build an Evangelistic Church"; Tuesday, "How to Organize a Congregation for Evangelism;" Wednesday, "How to Follow up on the Commitments" and Thursday, "How to Organize the Adult Class."

A panel discussion of the duties of a pastor's wife, planned especially for wives of the ministers, will be held from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Thursday.

Rev. Kenneth Wessel, pastor, Peace Church, Neenah, is the general chairman. Rev. Arthur Kaul, Kampsville, Ill., is the area director.

secretary-general of the South Viet Nam Democratic party.

Tran Nam Trung, 52, a professional revolutionary who is notable primarily for the lack of official information given on him. He represents the "Liberation Army," the Viet Cong.

The other four members of the Presidium are Mrs. Nguyen Thi Dinh, 45, deputy commander of the Viet Cong and chairman of the Women's Union for Liberation; Superior Monk Thich Thien Hao, 56, president of the Viet Nam Luc Hoa Buddhists' Association; Tran Buu Kiem, 44, president of the Students' Union for Liberation, and Superior Nguyen Van Ngoi, 65, president of the Tien Thien Cao Dai sect.

Tran Buu Kiem also is chairman of the front's Commission for Foreign Relations. This would seem to make him the foreign minister. He is a lawyer with long administrative experience in revolutionary causes.

New Secretary-General

The North Vietnamese Communist Party under Ho Chi Minh named a new secretary-general in September 1960. He is Le Duan.

Le Duan directed the Communist war against the French in South Viet Nam before 1954. Many observers consider him a hard-liner whose appointment signaled a stepped-up effort from Hanoi to overturn the Saigon government.

Three months after Le Duan's promotion, and possibly not just by coincidence, the National Liberation Front was established.

Indications reaching here are that Le Duan supervises and possibly directs the front. It speaks through Hanoi for lack of direct contact with the outside world from its jungle headquarters.

Observers familiar with the history of Communist takeover in other parts of the world regard the front as a collection of elements useful to the Communists for the time being but likely to be discarded if they should win control of South Viet Nam.

Earl Arnold Elected President of Council At Prince of Peace

Officers of the new Prince of Peace Lutheran Church were selected by the council at a meeting Thursday evening.

Earl Arnold was chosen president; Paul Kruger, vice president; Vern Eckes, secretary; Richard Harthun, treasurer, and Harold Krueger, financial secretary.

The 12-man church council was elected by the congregation Jan. 27.

There are 201 baptized members in the congregation, according to Rev. Gerhard Bretheim, pastor.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Blaise Pascal, one of the great mathematicians and scientists in France during the Seventeenth Century, is remembered as the discoverer of Pascal's law. This is the principle that liquid in a vessel exerts equal pressure in all directions.

Also he was a man of great faith. Although educated by his father in a devout environment he did not do any deep religious thinking until the age of 32, as the result of his sister's influence and a deep spiritual conversion. Then he gave away most of his possessions and spent the rest of his short life (he died at 39) in religious writing as well as in scientific pursuits.

He believed that only through Christian revelation do we gain perfect knowledge. "The greatness of wisdom is nothing if not from God," he wrote. "Reason can go so far and no further, but there are no limits to faith."

Missouri Synod To be Powerful In New Council

Midwestern Church Had Ignored Work With Denominations

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A branch of Lutheranism centered in the Midwest today appeared destined for a powerful role in an area of interdenominational cooperation which it had once shunned

This became evident as the 48-year-old National Lutheran Council acted to close out its existence, prior to the launching of a new, broader organization of inter-Lutheran teamwork

Although the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, with headquarters in St Louis, Mo., has never joined in work of the old council, the denomination was in line for a big share of leadership in the new one

Of six top executive officers nominated so far to serve in the larger council, three of them are from the Missouri Synod Church, including the chief administrator

Men from the American Lutheran Church, with headquarters in Minneapolis, have been named for two executive posts, while one executive has been nominated from the largest body, the Lutheran Church in America, with headquarters in New York City.

Lutheran Council

A long series of discussions eventuated in plans for the new inter-Lutheran organization, to be called the Lutheran Council of the United States, scheduled to be constituted at a convention next Jan. 1

It will embrace 95 per cent of the nation's 9 million Lutherans

Among the new officers nominated so far are the Rev. C Thomas Spitz Jr., of St. Louis, as the council's general secretary, its top executive post. He is a Missouri Synod churchman.

Two others nominated from that body are the Rev. Dr. John H. Tietjen, as head of the division of public relations, and Army Chaplain Col. William J. Reiss, of Fort Hamilton, N. Y., as head of the division of services to military personnel.

The two ALC men nominated are the Rev. Dr Robert Busche of New York, as associate general secretary, and the Rev. Gjermund S. Thompson, of New York, as head of the division of welfare services.

The one LCA man nominated so far is the Rev. Reuben A Lundeen, of Chicago, as head of the division of mission services.

'Mission Japan' Event Theme at Immanuel United

"Mission Japan" will be the theme of the annual mission night of Immanuel United Church of Christ, from 5 to 8 p m. Sunday.

Guest speaker will be Rev. Theodore Jordan, pastor, Evangelical United Brethren Church, Forest Junction. Rev. Jordan spent several months in Japan on a summer advisement mission working with various churches.

Entertainment will include Japanese games and the reading of Japanese folklore.

Mrs. Harry Hurst, assisted by Miss Mary Gerhartz, is chairman. Mrs. George Hurst, assisted by Mrs. Victor Lange and Mrs. Robert Knapp, are in charge of decorations.

Mrs. Eugene Schmeisser, assisted by the church women's guild, is in charge of serving.

Readings will be by Miss Frances Church.

American Folk Mass to be Sung At All Saints

An American folk song mass, also known as the "Jazz Mass," will be sung by the junior and adult choirs, accompanied by piano and guitar, at the 9 15 and 11 15 masses Sunday at all Saints Episcopal Church.

The mass, written in 1960 by Rev. Ian Mitchell, a priest at St. Christopher Mission, Bluff, Utah, has a musical setting for the Kyrie, the Nicine Creed, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, Lord's Prayer, Agnus Dei and Gloria in Excellis.

Accompanying the 30-voice choir will be Dr. Lee J. Gruenwald, choir director, and Miss Susan E. Skaros, guitarist, a Lawrence University student.

It will also be performed at the 9 15 mass Feb. 13 and 20.

'No Peace' Topic of Peace Corps Trainee At Fellowship Service

Miss Linda Stoneall, a classics senior at Lawrence University who participated last summer in Peace Corps training for English teaching in Ethiopia, will be the speaker at the Unitarian - Universalist Fellowship 9 30 a.m. Sunday at the Appleton YMCA.

Her topic will be "No Peace in the Peace Corps" and she will describe her impressions of the training program conducted on the campus of the University of California in Los Angeles

About 60 students took part in the program in preparation for the teaching work

Trinity Lutheran Sets Dinner Showing Hebrew Traditions

A dinner demonstrating Jewish traditions will be served by the Bethel Bible Study teachers 5 p m Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The meaning of the foods, all specialties of various Jewish festivals, will be explained to the pupils who are studying the Old Testament

The menu will include such items as apples dinped in honey, mazot, the unleavened bread which is a reminder of the Israelites hurried departure from Egypt and honey cake.

Mrs Harley O Barney and Mrs Ingolf B Kindem are in charge of the dinner.

Recipes will be given away.

Wisconsin Again Leads Lutheran World Relief Thanksgiving Drive

Nearly four million pounds of clothing were gathered by Lutheran World Relief during its 1965 Thanksgiving clothing appeal and once again, Wisconsin led all other states in carlot weights with a total of 679,890 pounds, according to church officials.

Apleton churches participating in the drive include members of the Lutheran Church in America, the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The 'Soft' Landing on the Moon

Many of the arguments about whether the United States or the Soviet Union has the inside track on space exploration are useless. Each has in various ways profited from the other's experiments. But certainly the Russian soft landing of Luna 9 on the moon's surface is an important advance.

The Russians probably have used similar techniques in bringing back to earth their cosmonauts and space capsules. The means of how they land them have not been made public but they do not parachute them into the ocean as does the United States Obviously for landing men on the waterless moon their technique is superior.

But there are many more things to find out before either nation will dare to send men on the four day flight to the moon. Luna 9 has shown that the moon's surface is not as soft as had been feared. But the weight of Luna 9 is not known by Americans and our proposed spaceship to take men to the moon would weigh about 16 tons. The United States has demonstrated the feasibility of space rendezvous through the meeting and maneuvering of Gemini 6 and Gemini 7. But the all important problem of blasting off from the moon's surface back toward earth has not been solved. Even if the moon's surface will support the 16 - ton ship, the tremendous pressure of a rocket powerful enough to lift the ship back into space might be too much.

The Russian moon shot was successful in another major way. Apparently it was a very accurate shot since it landed in the Ocean of Storms, the most advantageous place as far as light is concerned to keep the instruments operating for some time. This is all the more remarkable in the light of the previous Russian failures. However, the United States apparently has already mastered a considerable amount of accuracy in this field as further indicated by our even more advanced flight to Mars.

There is still a lot of information to learn before man ventures to land on the moon. But the time is coming.

What Is a 'Negro' Coach?

The Capital Times of Madison, a self-proclaimed liberal publication has for many years pounded hard on issues of civil rights, racial relations, discrimination and prejudice. Sometimes it may have appeared to readers of some sophistication that it has expressed itself in tones of excessive piety and stridence, almost as if its proprietors assumed that theirs was a perilous minority position and that the rest of the community harbored ideas hostile to their beliefs.

For our part, we have assumed the good will and the good faith of the newspaper. As we remember its attitudes, in fact, it has from time to time expressed criticism about the extraneous identification of race in the handling of the news grist of the day, as in the criminal courts and elsewhere. That is a view that we share also.

Therefore we noted with considerable surprise a few days ago the Capital Times' treatment of a news story of considerable dimensions in the University of Wisconsin campus community, which was an offer to a young coach from Texas for a position on the University of Wisconsin football staff. It was news for a couple of reasons, not the least of which is the hope of the alumni and University of Wisconsin football fans everywhere for some improvement in the gridiron performance of the Badgers.

But the editors were not content to display only the newsworthy fact that a new assistant coach might join the Badger line-up. They insisted on announcing the event with some of the subsidiary trimmings in the bold display headline on the first page of all editions.

"Negro Offered Coaching Job," shouted the type.

The text of the story contained a characterization of the young man, attributed to an anonymous Texas informant, as "One of Texas' leading Negro coaches."

Was there contained here a subconscious assumption by the copy desk men that there has been a rule, or a precedent, against the employment of any except white persons in the University athletic department? What is a Negro coach? Will he join a roster of other men who are to be designated as "white coaches," or even as German or Scandinavian or Irish coaches? We are puzzled and disappointed by an incident which the attentive and often super-critical Times editors would in any other circumstances denounce with pious indignation as shameful chauvinism in this era of heroic effort to eradicate prejudice and race consciousness from the popular mind.

Straight Answers Needed on Viet Nam

Congressman Melvin Laird has listed some questions concerning the war in Viet Nam to which he asks that the Johnson Administration give some "frank answers." While Mr. Laird does not himself present any solution to the situation, he does emphasize that the "crisis of credibility" which United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg cited some weeks ago is caused because the Administration has avoided giving straight answers for some time.

The questions range from when were we losing the war if we have now stopped losing it, according to Defense Secretary McNamara, to what sort of terms the Administration would accept as a basis for agreement on a cease-fire. Since there are now more Viet Cong members reportedly in Viet Nam as well as more Viet Minh from the north, it is a little difficult to tell whether we are losing or winning and Secretary McNamara has had his difficulties in this determination. It is probably also hard to tell with much accuracy, as Laird wishes, what the "balance sheet" is as far as the peace offensive and the bombing pause are concerned. And the Administration can hardly spell out exactly what terms it would settle upon in Viet Nam since this would remove any bargaining advantage we might conceivably have if negotiations ever do take place.

But two of Laird's questions deserve solid answers. "To what degree are the military and economic efforts of North Viet Nam sustained by goods brought in by sea? What flags do the ships involved fly?"

Undoubtedly a considerable amount of the goods comes from France or from other nations with special economic ties to France. Despite its defeat in Viet Nam more than a decade ago, the French have retained many economic ties. Besides that, they are opposed to the United States participation in the war and have officially stated that the National Liberation Front must be accredited some representation in any peace conferences.

But what of some of our other allies who have paid lip service at least to our efforts to halt Communist aggression? The British recognize Red China and probably trade with Hanoi although the United States has agreed to honor the British effort to place embargoes on many products to rebellious Rhodesia. Australia, which has a handful of troops in South Viet Nam, has a thriving wheat trade with Red China. How many Japanese goods go through the port of Haiphong?

There have been some good arguments against an all-out bombing attack upon Haiphong including the threat of retaliation on some of our "sanctuaries" such as Saigon and various places in Thailand where our bombers are reportedly based. But our restraint may also be because of the presence in the port of the ships of our allies and we don't want to get into any more embarrassing situations.

However at the time of the Cuban missile crisis we did ask and receive in great part a temporary embargo of ports in Cuba. At the very least Americans who are paying for the Vietnamese war in money and blood have the right to know whether our allies are conducting business as usual with the enemy.

Million Servicemen Now Are Overseas

BY BEM PRICE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time since the end of World War I the United States has wrapped a security blanket of sorts around the distribution of its forces overseas except oddly, Viet Nam.

All the Pentagon will say officially these days is that the United States has approximately 2.7 million people in uniform and that one million of them are overseas.

The closest the Pentagon will get to a breakdown of the whereabouts of these one million is to say that about 500,000 are assigned to the Atlantic area and the rest to the Pacific.

As for Viet Nam, the Pentagon announces the arrival of assorted units from time to time and their strength figures. The total is now around 200,000. If the war in Viet Nam continues to escalate, this figure is expected to climb in 1966 to somewhere between 350,000 and 400,000.

In all of Europe there are approximately 340,00 uniformed Americans, including some 250,000 in West Germany, 20,000 in the United Kingdom and 50,000 in France. There are roughly 10,000 men, mostly Navy, in Italy.

All the information now available indicates that the nation has about 30,000 men stationed on Okinawa, 18,000 in the Philippines and roughly 39,000 in Japan.

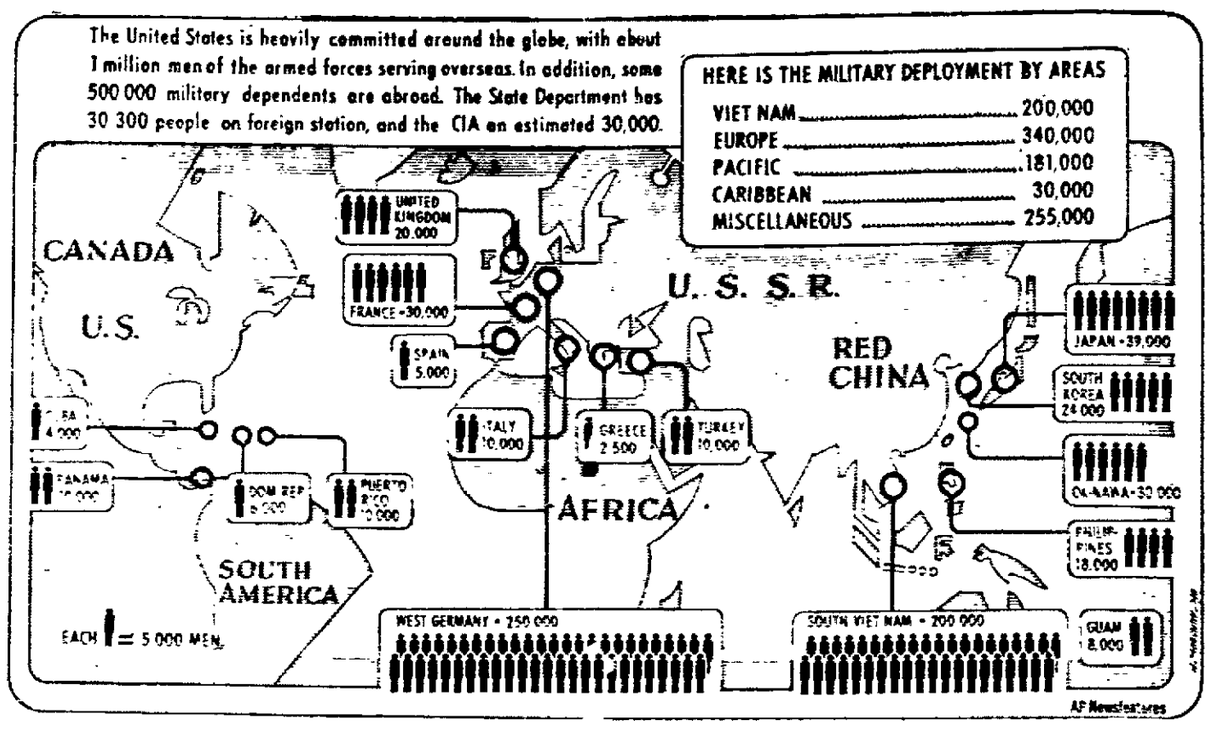
Beyond these there are 24,000-plus troops in South Korea and about 70,000 men involved in fleet operations in the Pacific.

The third major center of U.S. troop concentration is the Caribbean which is now, relatively speaking, loaded. There are 10,000 Americans stationed in Panama, 10,000 in Puerto Rico, 6,000 in the Dominican Republic and about 4,000 in Cuba—the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay in Oriente Province.

The others in uniform are scattered among such places as Turkey, 10,000—and Greece, 2,500. There are 8,000 in Guam and about 5,000 in Spain, and smaller groups scattered around the globe.

These uniformed Americans are accompanied overseas by nearly 500,000 dependents.

The armed forces, of course, represent the major U.S. commitment of manpower overseas. But the State Department has roughly 30,300 people scattered around the world, while the Central Intelligence Agency, according to Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., historian and former White House aide, has nearly that many employes abroad.



The United States is heavily committed around the globe, with about 1 million men of the armed forces serving overseas. In addition, some 500 000 military dependents are abroad. The State Department has 30 300 people on foreign station, and the CIA an estimated 30,000.

Raising Gasoline Taxes for Road Building Difficult Political Feat

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There are several reasonably apparent obstacles to the idea of raising motor fuel taxes which key legislative Democrats will suggest when the legislature returns to session in the spring as a substitute for Gov. Knowles' plan for highway bonding for the acceleration of main line highway construction.

Wyngaard

The most obvious is the timing of the spring session. There will be strong opposition to any such plan by the motor fuel distribution industry, in spite of the incongruity noted by Gov. Knowles and others that the motor fuel tradesmen would be the most immediate beneficiaries of any program to encourage and increase highway travel.

The rank and file taxpayer, as a guess, won't cheer about higher taxes on his car in a time when he is being taxed higher in so many other directions. The normal politician likes to let time intervene to soften the irritation of such experiences among his constituents. Will he be willing to vote for a higher tax in May or June, when he will file his papers shortly thereafter to campaign for renomination in September and re-election in November.

YET OTHERS

Probably a more important difficulty is the inevitability of the demand from local government lobbies that they share in the receipts of any higher motor fuel taxes.

A one-cent additional tax on fuel would yield about $14 million. That would permit a substantial intensification of major road improvement effort, if reserved wholly to the State Highway Commission and committed by law to the roads of highest traffic density and highest priority of improvement need. A two-cent additional levy would permit an acceleration effort of the kind visualized by the administration through the bonding device for the next five or six years.

But it will be extremely difficult for the legislature to dedicate all of such new receipts to state roads. The Wisconsin Towns Association in a kind of warning to its dues-payers in a current bulletin to the town halls says flatly that any additional fuel levy must be divided equally with the local governments. The League of Wisconsin Municipalities, the Wisconsin County Boards Associaton and County Boards Association and the rural oriented lobbies of all kinds can be expected to echo the demand. The rural road network of the state is one of the best in the country. It is easy to perceive, from a neutral perspective, that the real need in the state is for the upgrading or total reconstruction of the major transport routes.

But to assert such readily evident facts is easier than to get the votes to support them in the legislature. The idea of partnership in the road tax dollar is deeply entrenched. Even if the rural spokesmen are forced to concede that their roads are not equally in need of new money infusions, there will be the plea for relief of the property taxes which continue to be levied for road maintenance in the typical rural jurisdiction.

THE TIE-UP

One of the handicaps of the Knowles' road improvement drive, as it was a weakness of the Reynolds proposal earlier, has been the lukewarm response of what is regarded as the "highway establishment." The heart of the highway lobby in the state has always been in the town halls and courthouses, where the road administrators and others primarily concerned with highways and pack a considerable punch in local politics.

These were the men who won the overwhelming victory for the Kohler administration 11 years ago when the last enrichment of the highway program was authorized through additional motor fuel taxes. Significantly, that two-cent tax boost was shared with the localities.

Until there is a promise for another sharing with the local road men, or until there is a rallying of the non-parochial forces concerned with transportation, it will be difficult to get the political support needed for a concentrated effort for the mainline routes.

Talent Show Provides 'Real Treat'

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The recent performances at Horace Mann Junior High's Talent Night provided a real treat by both teachers and pupils, who obviously enjoyed performing as much as we enjoyed watching and listening. A chance to perform on a more individual basis for those with unproven talent or those who just like to perform even though they aren't "in demand" is rare. I hope this can be a continuing program and that other schools who haven't done this pick up the lead and help create a culture in which talent can blossom in our schools and communities.

Group performances are no substitute for individual performances in building confidence and poise in front of an audience. While a performer feels "protected" in a group, he freezes when alone. With occasional appearances before an audience during school years it is natural to be at ease before an audience at adulthood.

Many Experts in Foreign Affairs

Professor Max Beloff, of Cambridge University, made a speech warning the public that highbrow intellectual scholars are not necessarily smart when they get into fields outside their specialty, such as foreign affairs. The prof is right, and besides, who needs any more experts, when we have thousands of barkeepers, taxi-drivers, college freshmen who know the score on everything from Viet Nam to the Dominican Republic? — Philadelphia Bulletin.

LBJ claims he still likes the idea of a balanced budget. In fact, he likes it so much that each year he postpones it once more so he'll be sure of having at least one thing to look forward to.

LBJ wants to help rural people. The farmer's life is a lot harder now that Johnson's speechwriters supply the nation's corn—and teen-agers are producing more wild oats than we can use.

Advises People With Pets to Protect Them

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing in reference to the letter appearing in the Sunday, Jan. 23 Post-Crescent: "Mike, a Happy Puppy and now He's Dead."

An incident such as this is heart rending and certainly heart-breaking for the family involved. But I wonder how many people who have had dogs hit by cars on highways and streets realize that these highways and streets are intended for use by cars, not for dogs. I do not mean to sound hard hearted or unsympathetic over the loss of a beloved pet.

However, the fact remains that when one decides to own a dog for a pet, then, he, the owner, must assume full responsibility for that dog's health and safety. If you do not care to accept this responsibility, then don't have a pet.

Involved in this responsibility is seeing that your dog has proper innoculations to protect him from canine diseases and providing a fenced area where he can romp and play in safety. I say "fenced area" as this is far more satisfactory than tying a dog to a post. The tied dog often is teased into viciousness, or is so bored and frustrated that he becomes a nuisance to all.

When our pets are out of their yards, they should be on leash or obedience trained to obey commands for their own protection. A dog walking or running on a highway is endangering not only himself, but the lives of many motorists.

To the Dolan family, I would like to say that if they replace Mike with another puppy, do provide a safe, fenced area for him or walk him on leash. The cost of fencing (there are many inexpensive types available, even snow fencing will do) is small compared to the heart-break and real loss your family has suffered.

Bogan Loses Assembly Post

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 3, 1866.

All attention has been riveted on the Assembly contested seat for a few days. The evening of Jan. 30, it was disposed of by ousting Mr. W. H. P. Bogan of Appleton and admitting Capt. Henry Turner, by a party vote.

Our esteemed friend, Dr. Pease, and quite a number of other Democratic members, made the air resonant with curses loud and deep against Attorney T. R. Hudd, of Appleton, for stipulating away the rights of Mr. Bogan, as they assert he did by the following:

"It is hereby agreed and stipulated by and between the contestants, viz., W. H. P. Bogan and Henry Turner, that the several individuals including Mr. Bogan mentioned and described in an affidavit of S. P. Ming, of Outagamie County, as having voted in the Town of Centre, Outagamie County, at the November election, in 1865, were theretofore draftees into the service of the United States, that they were at the time of said draft and now are residents of the Town of Centre, and that they never reported for duty although duly notified of such fact, viz: that they had been drafted in the military service of the United States."

Dr. Pease, from the minority of the committee, presented a report sustaining Mr. Bogan's rights to ignore the stipulation.

The debate was very strong and interesting, the principal arguments being made by A. R. R. Butler for Bogan and H. G. Webb for Turner. The argument of Butler was masterly and unanswerable; that of Webb shrewd but evasive.

There is quite a fluttering among office-holders here and a caucus of the Destructionists is being held to bill and coo over matters.

The fact appears to be that President Johnson has commenced removing men who fight his main policy and oppose Reconstruction.

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, Feb. 1, 1941.

Debate champions in the Northeastern Conference were the four members of the Kaukauna High School team composed of students James Gustmar, James McGrath, Mary McGrath and Magdalene Otte.

Hortonville High School students named to the staff of the new all-school newspaper, The Polar Bear, included Delores Hastings, editor-in-chief; Marguerite Manley, assistant editor; Veronica Doughty and Berna Mae Magadantz, production, Leo Carmody, art; Margaret Kroger, humor; Iola Schneider, forensics; Lee George Hershberger and Bernadine Hansen, sports; Irene Cramblit, circulation. The following students were named reporters: seniors Verlyn Hein and Anna Sexton; juniors Martelle Hansen and Robert Schneider; sophomores Mary Buchman and Henry Probe, and freshmen Clarice Gehring and Randall Morack.

Typists for the student newspaper were Dorothy Freiburger and Lillian Gitter; grade reporters were Beverly and Patricia Wilkes.

10 YEARS AGO
Saturday, Feb. 4, 1956.

Stu Locklin, Appleton, was given a royal send-off to his spring training trip with the Cleveland Indians. The party was given by fellow members of the 1945 state championship American Legion Junior team and several former football cronies. Locklin had been a pitcher for the team and his brother, Ron outfielder. Other teammates included Dick Faas, Al Baetz, Ralph McClone, Russ Skall, Dan Sullivan, Fred Rettler, Jim Williamson, Don DeLong, Gene Piette, Joe Hopfensperger and Jim Overby.

Former Twin Cities cagers were playing that year on various college teams in the state—Dick Jorgensen, Neenah, at the University of Wisconsin in Madison; Pat O'Keefe and Clem Massey, both of Menasha, and Don Metz of Neenah, on the Marquette University squad.

Lester Koehler and Pershing Cox were assisting with the organization of the new archery club at Fremont. The club name was to be the Fremont Archers.

Now That Trial's Over, How About A Fair Clinical Test of Krebiozen?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

An open letter to Dr. Andrew C. [illegible] and Dr. William F. Potter:

Our warmest congratulations and deepest gratitude are this day extended to you both. Our heartiest congratulations for a fight well fought and won. Our deep gratitude for your undying dedication to the truth, and concern for all suffering humanity, of which we are or may become a despairing part. The war has not yet been won, but a major skirmish has found you victorious.

For those of us who have become more or less intimately acquainted with you and your research in cancer with the [illegible] Krebiozen, [illegible] years, let us attempt briefly to indicate our feelings, attitudes and motives, and the research obtained in a [illegible] court of justice, [illegible] years overdue. For those of us who took the time to attend several sessions of that now famous trial, the shock of hearing and seeing the practices of those who represented our seemingly benevolent and democratic government resort to a manner of flagrant deceit, deception, trickery and callous falsehood to bring about your ultimate conviction, was an experience which will not soon be forgotten. That our taxes should be used in part to support such governmental chicanery with its consequent depravations against truth and dedicated scientific inquiry is at once both unthinkable and unsupportable.

To observe several members of the medical profession testify under oath and cross-examination that at the behest of the Food and Drug Administration they, the physicians, had submitted fictitious medical reports of nonexistent patients to secure ampules of Krebiozen (a lipo-polysaccharide) to be used as evidence against you at the trial, was to observe ethical, medical conduct descend to a new low.

The torches of truth which you have held so high and which so long have beamed unwaveringly through the murky shadows of orthodox complacency and condemnation will be gathered up by those of us whose campaigns you have led. We, as members of the Citizens For A Fair Test for Krebiozen, rededicate ourselves to aid in bringing about a performance of a fair test for Krebiozen, free of what you, Dr. Ivy call a "medical monopoly."

It is now to be hoped that Senator William Proxmire of Wisconsin, who with Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois has launched a senate investigation of the Krebiozen controversy, will again become publicly active in securing a fair test for Krebiozen now that your long trial is over.

Truly, David has grievously wounded Goliath with his sling and a stone. And the stone is the truth.

High School Journalists In AP Test

Wisconsin Students Preparing Entries For Competition

MILWAUKEE (AP) — High school journalists throughout the state can start polishing their best efforts for their school newspapers — the first annual Wisconsin Associated Press student writing contest is formally in business.

Harry Hill, city editor of The Milwaukee Journal and AP contest chairman, said today that the announcement of the contest, copies of the rules and directions on how entries should be handled are going out to journalism advisers at every public, private and parochial high school in the state.

In a covering letter, Hill urged the teachers who are responsible for high school newspaper supervision to encourage their pupils to take part.

Three Entries

Each school may submit three entries in each of four categories of news writing, which permits local judging to pick the best entries from any publication. These initial winners then go to the nearest AP member newspaper for regional judging. Winners of the 10 district contests will be judged together to determine the state's best, which will be awarded trophies by the Wisconsin AP Association, sponsor of the contest.

Suitable awards also will be made to second and third place entries.

In addition to Hill, the contest committee is made up of Sanford Goltz, editor of the La Crosse Tribune; Verne Hoffman, managing editor of the Racine Journal-Times; Gordon McIntyre, managing editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent; Larry Fitzpatrick, managing editor of the Wisconsin State Journal and Robert Tottingham of the University of Wisconsin.

Kimberly '5' Keeps Lead Of 2 Games

Uses Free-Throwing Excellence To Shade Two Rivers, 73-70

TWO RIVERS — Kimberly High School continued its mastery of free throw artistry here Friday night, canning 17 of 22 attempts, en route to 73-70 conquest of Two Rivers in a Mid-Eastern Conference contest

The win lifted the Papermakers' M-E slate to 9-1, enabling them to maintain a 2-game lead over runners-up Neenah and Menasha

After taking the lead midway through the initial stanza, Kimberly vaulted to a 24-18 advantage at quarter's end and never trailed thereafter, despite some anxious moments in the final segment.

The Papermakers' widest margin was seven points, at 36-29, late in the second quarter, but a last-minute surge by Two Rivers quickly narrowed the gap to 38-35 at halftime

Protects Edge

Gary Van Cuyk, held scoreless prior to the intermission, coined five field goals early in the third frame, allowing Kimberly to protect its 3-point edge, 55-52, heading into the closing stanza.

The visitors upped the margin to 59-53, but the Raiders, led by Mike Turman and Paul Koprowski moved to within five markers at 65-60, before the Raiders' E. J. Streu hit a jumper and Tom Turman meshed a tip-in, cutting the Kimberly lead to one point at 65-64 with two minutes left in the contest. John Reider iced things for the winners with a lay-up and two free throws, putting them out of range to stay at 69-64.

The Raiders out-field goaled (30-28), out-rebounded (30-27), and out-shot (51 per cent to 37 per cent, the Papermakers, but Kimberly's torrid 77 per cent from the charity stripe proved too much to overcome.

Reider and Ken Fries paced the winners' scoring with 24 and 17 points, respectively, while Van Cuyk and Bob Van Gompel added 12 each.

Mike Turman topped the Raiders with 20 tallies.

KIMBERLY — (24-14-17-18—73): Reider 6 8 3, Van Gompel 3 6 3, Van Cuyk 6 0 1, Fries 8 1 5, Gossens 3 2 1. Totals 28 17 13.

Starved it came and repleted it left.

Little David — Fond du Lac St Mary Springs High School's basketball team — felled mighty Goliath — Xavier's Hawks — 60-57 here Friday night to write finis to XHS' famed 5-season, 53-game Fox Valley Catholic Conference victory string before a somewhat stunned, partisan crowd.

Springs, with no regular measuring 6-feet skyward, but all in the 5-10 or 5-11 range, gave 100 per cent — possibly 200 per cent — to accomplish what no other FVCC team has managed to do in five seasons.

Six outstanding individuals, under the direction of Coach Don Gosz, gave their utmost and received exactly what they sought . . . the victory. On the other hand, Xavier simply did not go all-out for the win. Thus, Springs owns a 60-57 victory over Xavier, boosting the Ledgers' FVCC season mark to 4-6, while the Hawks maintained the top spot with a 9-1 slate.

The win was the first for Springs over Xavier in any sport To celebrate the triumph, Gosz jumped under the shower, clothes and all.

Now 63-3 In FVCC

Xavier lost two FVCC contests in the 1961-62 campaign, its first in the circuit. Marinette managed a 48-47 win and Premontre was the last to turn the table on the Hawks, 69-65. The loss to Springs last night was only the third setback in 66 games for the "Torchy" Clark-coached Hawks.

Jim Harbridge scored 17 points for Springs, but to say Harbridge paced the Ledgers to victory would be wholly untrue . . . for the Springs representatives turned in a classic example of teamwork . . . an all-out effort on the part of each individual involved.

It was Harbridge, though, who put the Springers ahead to stay (57-55) with 52 seconds remaining in the game on a 3-point play. But burly Mike Flasch, under extreme pressure, dropped a pair of free throws seven seconds later for a 4-point

GREEN BAY — Green Bay West's rockin' and rollin' Wildcats went on a frantic fling in the second quarter, pelting 11 baskets in 12 shots, and used a diggin' defense to cool Appleton's fired-up Terrors, 70-47, in Franklin Junior High Gym Friday night.

It was a resounding performance, roundly applauded by most of the standing room-only crowd of over 2,300 fans. The only dissenters were about 600 Appleton supporters whose early enthusiasm dwindled with the Terror hopes for an upset over the No. 2-ranked team in the state.

For West, its season tempo has now reached 13 straight wins against no defeats. The Wildcats moved to within two games of clinching the Fox River Valley Conference title, an ambition that could become reality by next weekend since the Cats face Preble Tuesday night and East next Friday. Apleton is now 8-5 and shares third place.

The Wildcats led all the way despite a slow start that saw them ahead only, 11-9, at the quarter mark. But little Jim Anderson, who finished with 16 points and whose 6-of-8 shooting was a big factor in West's 55 per cent gunning from the floor, hit three straight baskets and Dale Cibula made a fourth to spring a 19-13 difference on the invaders.

Only One Miss

That steady beat continued through the period as the only West shot that misfired in the eight minutes was a short one by Russ Westphal. This pace was too much for the Terrors and West grabbed a 35-24 halftime margin.

Appleton never really got back into contention despite a scrambling press defense that at times bothered the Wildcats. But after George Hoffman closed it to 39-30 with a free throw, Anderson again connected from the corner and triggered the West burst that bagged the win.

The Terrors momentarily pulled to within 14 points with five minutes left in the game but a charity toss and basket by Cibula spurred West away again.

Rob Westphal took point honors with 20, while Hoffman's 13 led AHS. Appleton could counter West's gaudy shooting with only 34 per cent and West also controlled the boards, 36-29, with Russ Westphal a big wolf. Each team had 14 turnovers.

Knights Shoot 58 Per Cent From Floor in Sixth Win

BY JIM HARP

LITTLE CHUTE — Oshkosh Lourdes hit a blistering 58 per cent on field goals and waltzed to a 65-48 Fox Valley Catholic Conference victory over Little Chute St. John here Friday night.

The Knights, tossing in buckets from all angles, also turned in a sparkling defensive game as they continually intercepted passes and controlled rebounds.

The Chuters were as cold in all-around play as in their shooting. St. John managed only 18 field goals in 57 tries, for a slim 31 per cent

With the victory, Lourdes now has a 6-4 FVCC record and is tied for second place while the Dutchmen dropped to a 2-8 mark

Had Lead Once

St John had the lead on only one occasion, early in the game when Jerry Janssen's bucket and free throw gave the Chuters a 5-3 advantage Greg Graber tied it with a short drive-in shot and Steve Mugrauer put the Knights ahead with a jumper. Janssen bagged another for the Dutchmen to knot the count at 7-all with 5:18 to go in the opening period

Lourdes then took charge and poured in 13 straight points for a 20-7 lead Senior Pete Van Dyke was the sparkplug of the spree with three straight baskets Graber added a free throw and Van Dyke came back with

Losse Sinks 4 Free Throws In Final :47 of Extra Period

BY BERNIE PETERSON

NEENAH — Gary Losse canned four free throws in the last 47 seconds of an overtime period to lift Neenah past Kaukauna, 70-67, here Friday night.

The victory kept the Rockets in a second place tie with Menasha, two games off Kimberly's pace. It was Neenah's third overtime contest of the season and its initial extra-period win.

With the Rockets head, 66-65, Losse, a junior guard, came through on two bonus shot foul situations to give his team an insurmountable 70-65 advantage

The Ghosts' Quinn Vanden-Heuvel closed the scoring with a 15-foot jump shot at the final buzzer.

Both teams started slowly with the visitors grabbing a 13-11 edge after the first quarter. Jim Koepke put Neenah in front (31-30) at the half on a three-point play with nine seconds remaining.

Coach Doug Martin's Rockets steadily increased the margin after the intermission, outscoring their foes 23-13 in the third stanza to take a 54-43 lead into the final eight minutes.

Kaukauna's Pat Kavanaugh collected 11 points in a wild fourth segment which produced a 63-63 tie after regulation time.

Kaukauna trailed, 63-59, with 20 seconds left to go but Greg Eslein and Gary Riemer closed the gap with hasty jump shots

Kavanaugh was the game's top scorer with 26 points Reimer fouled out with 19 and Eslein came up with 10.

Losse paced the winners with 22 points. Koepke added 14 and Larry Handler was next with 12 Sophomore center Dan Jankowski was a key figure for the victors, pulling down 29 rebounds.

Neither squad shot effectively with the Red and White posting 33 per cent on 29 of 87 and the Ghosts 29 per cent on 27 of 92 Neenah made 12 of its 21 free throw tries and Kaukauna put in 13 of 26.

MONMOUTH, Ill. — A scrappy gang of Lawrence University Vikings mounted a spirited second-half comeback but fell victim to the clock and to the Scots of Monmouth College, 83-79, in a Midwest Conference thriller played here Friday night.

Trailing by 21 points, 72-51, with 10 minutes left in the game, the Vikes methodically cut into the Monmouth lead until time ran out with the shakened Scots clinging to a 4-point edge.

The victory left second-place Monmouth with an 8-2 conference mark, while Lawrence is now 1-9 in conference play.

The Scots jumped out to a 10-5 lead in the opening four minutes of play, but a pair of 2-pointers by Tom Steinmetz and field goal by Brian Bock gave Lawrence its only lead in the

Kneece Paces Hope Tournament By 2 Strokes

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —It was plainly a case of fisherman trying to catch a catfish today in the fourth round of the five-round $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

The "Catfish" is good-natured Harold Kneece, who got the nickname when he fished for same as a kid in South Carolina and still answers to it.

The angler is Bill Casper Jr., who admittedly would rather fish than golf

Kneece, from Aiken, S.C., went into today's round with a precarious lead of only two strokes over Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, who came on with a rush Friday with a 7-under-par 65.

Their 54 holes scores: Kneece, 68-68-69—205; Casper 69-73-65—207.

Five shots behind the "Catfish" was Doug Sanders, a seasoned tournament pro, while Arnold Palmer, notorious for his come-from-behind performances, was seven shots off the pace

Among other contenders to be reckoned with are Don Massengale, the surprise winner of the Bing Crosby Tournament last month, who was tied at 211 with veteran Al Besselink and Phil Rodgers.

Palmer was deadlocked in the 212 group with among others, Mike Souchak, who had a 67 Friday.

Menasha Keeps Title Hopes Alive on 78-64 Win Over Bulldog '5'

BY ROGER PITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — Menasha High School's Bluejay basketball team kept its Mid-Eastern Conference title hopes alive here Friday by trouncing New London, 78-64.

Coach Barry Ewald's Menashans built their season M-E mark to 7-3, two games behind league-leading Kimberly. The Bluejays still have an outside chance to pick up the marbles with four contests left. The loss dropped the Buldogs' record to 2-8.

Don Steffin paced the Menasha attack with 29 points Steffin worked both inside and outside for his scoring plays and late in the game made his size felt as he drove the lane against a beat NLHS quintet.

The Bulldogs showed signs of recovering from a mid-season slump that saw them outscored decisively in previous three contests.

Sophomore Greg Stern matched Steffin for all-around play as he topped the Bulldogs with 17 points and paced all rebounders with 13 recoveries

Menasha put the game out of reach in the first half as it blistered the nets on 19 of 35 shots, for 54.4 per cent. Steffin hit on seven of 12 from the floor for 58 per cent in the opening 16 minutes to do the most damage.

Jansen Stands Out

Dennis Jansen, a 6-1 senior, played a spectacular defensive game by blocking a number of New London shots from close range. Jansen also added 13 points to the visitors total.

The Bulldogs inability to find the opening in the basket took a heavy toll. New London hit a frigid 28 per cent scoring on 19 of 62 attempts. Menasha shot a torrid 46 per cent on 31 of 68

New London held a slight ing 38 recoveries to the Bluejays 33.

Tom Vandergyden hit 16 points all on fielders to give Menasha excellent balance

Stern's 17, Henry Linke's 13 and Bob Rieckmann's 11 gave New London a trio in double figures to match the Bluejays, but the second line scoring punch was lacking. The Bulldogs two starting guards managed an aggregate of just nine points.

Menasha scored 22 points in each of the two opening frames and held a 44-22 lead at the half.

Use Zone Press

New London went into a zone press in the third period and narrowed the Menasha lead to 56-41 after three periods.

Ewald's charges built a 21-point spread at the halfway point of the final canto and the Menasha mentor took the opportunity to substitute freely.

The Menashans dumped in 16 of 26 charity tosses while the Bulldogs banged home 26 of 35 free throws.

Oshkosh Tips Southwest in FRVC, 60-51

GREEN BAY — Southwest wasn't able to muster enough petrol to overcome a bigger Oshkosh quintet and accepted its 12th Fox River Valley Conference basketball defeat in 13 starts Friday night, 60-51, at Southwest High School.

The Trojans streaked to a 10-2 lead before the Indians regained their composure and evened the tally at 10-all. Southwest managed to sneak in front at 13-12, seconds later, but that was the last time the upper hand was held by Coach Jerry Eckman's charges.

Littie Bruce Erickson, who shot only when he had to, several times halted any Trojan comeback march with deadly set shots. Erickson canned nine buckets and added three charities to pace the tribe with 21 points.

The FRVC's leading scorer, Greg Seibold, was held to 10 points but Erickson and rugged Scott Schermetzler took up what slack there was Schermetzler rimmed 12 points.

St. Mary Quintet Beats Premontre

Heroux, Gage Pace Zephyrs Back to .500 Mark in FVCC

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — A 7-point bulge in the fourth period propelled St. Mary to a 71-64 triumph over Premontre here Friday night.

The victory moved the Zephyrs back up to the .500 mark in Fo.. Valley Catholic Conference play. They'll take a 5-5 fourth place record into a 3 p.m. Sunday home game against Oshkosh Lourdes. Premontre dropped to 4-7.

The game was deadlocked at 38-all at halftime and 53-apiece after three periods but the Menashans had greater staying power and dropped in 18 points in the final segment to the hosts' 11.

Big guns in the St. Mary attack were Mike Heroux and Mike Gage. Heroux, who coined 40 points in the first meeting against the Bays, dropped in 29, including 20 in the first half and five vital free throws in the fourth period.

Gage, the target for Premontre's defense, finished with 20 after being limited to a basket and three free throws in the first half.

Good Support

The twosome had capable support from Greg Gill with 10, Greg Haldeman, seven, and Mike Kettenhofen, five, including a pair of timely fourth period goals.

Jerry DeGroot topped the Cadets with 17 points. Craig Johansen made 16. Steve Young 14 and John Dickey 12.

After a third period, which saw the score tied six times, St. Mary connected for the first five points of the fourth on Haldeman's free throw and two baskets by Gage, upping the count to 58-53.

Three straight goals by Young, a 6-2 sophomore, moved Premontre back in front, 59-58. Kettenhofen then produced a jump shot which gave the Zephyrs the advantage for good.

Key Baskets

Gill added a jump shot but Johansen cut the score to 62-61 with a pair of free throws. Another Kettenhofen basket and Gage's jumper upped the count with 66-61 with 2:53 left.

Free throws by Dickey and Heroux left the score at 67-62 with 2:34 to play. Young's fourth basket of the frame reduced the margin to 67-64 but then the Menashans were successful in calling the shots. Heroux was fouled three times in the final 71 seconds and made four of six free throw attempts.

The going got extremely rough in the final minutes and Premontre's fouls to stop play were solid jolts.

Unofficially, St. Maryq made 26 of 67 field goal attempts and coined 19 free throws in 25 tries, including its first 12. Premontre posted 15 fielders in 72 chances and hooped 14 of 18 gifters.

Starting forward Dave Koerner of the Zephyrs wasn't in uniform because of a sprained ankle. His absence hurt the rebounding.

The box score:

ST. MARY (18 20 15 18—71) Heroux 10 9 4, Gage 8 4 3, Kettenhofen 2 1 0, Gill 4 2 4, Haldeman 2 3 0, Wroblewski 0 0 0, Pozolinski 0 0 3. Totals — 26 19 14.

contest, 11-10. Monmouth reeled off three quick buckets and soon moved to a 10-point advantage, 25-15. The two teams battled on even terms the rest of the half, with the host holding an 11 point bulge at intermission, 48-37.

Trade Baskets

After trading baskets for the first three minutes of the second half, the Scots caught fire and appeared headed for a lopsided triumph, leading, 68-48, with 12 minutes remaining. Things looked even more dismal when Dick Rodgers, who was the game's outstanding player, pumped in a 20 footer to bury the Vikes 21 points under with half the period left to play.

At that point the Lawrence defense started playing aggressively, the suuddenly alert Viking offense clicked and the team looked its sharpest in several weeks.

With Steinmetz banging in two buckets and Dick Schultz tallying three points, Lawrence cut the deficit to 15. Steve Simon, Don Brooke and Schultz scored to diminish Monmouth's lead to 11 points, 80-69, with 3:40 showing on the scoreboard.

Simon and Steinmetz hit four points apiece in the frantic final 3½ minutes to spark the Vikes' superb finale which was halted by the clock.

Monmouth's hard-driving Rodgers led both teams in scoring with 32 points. Teammate Mike McCreight added 16.

Steinmetz poured in eight field goals and added six free throws to top the Vikings with 22 points. Simon and Dick Schultz collected 19 and 15 points, respectively.

Hoffa's Unionizing Plans Are Opposed by Sports Leaders

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has organized an impressive array of sports leaders—against his plan to unionize professional athletes.

Hoffa, in Detroit, said Friday that his union is embarking on a campaign to enlist players from "baseball, football, basketball, hockey, et cetera" in a giant union that would be a separate division of the Teamsters.

Hoffa's announcement came after the disclosure that one of his assistants, Charles (Chuck) O'Brien, had met this week with veteran members of the National Football League's Detroit Lions, who were reported to be disgruntled over their salaries.

O'Brien said he got "a good reception" in talking with more than a dozen members of the Lions. But Hoffa's announcement drew a chorus of wry comment from various sports leaders.

"Why doesn't he try to organize corporate presidents?" quipped Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League.

'To the Moon'

"I think Hoffa has about as much chance of getting baseball players in his union as I have of getting to the moon without a rocket," said Philadelphia pitcher Jim Bunning, an executive council member of baseball's Players Association.

"To successfully organize a group, I think there must be some discontent," said Bill Jennings, president of the New York Rangers. "I know of none in the National Hockey League."

"We can make truck drivers out of 'em (football players) real easy," snapped Lions' owner William Clay Ford.

But despite the quips, there also were some serious thoughts on the subject with Foss and Ford paying particular attention to pro football's problems.

Only Thursday Ford had confirmed that veteran Lions had met and discussed demanding $2 million in increased salaries and bonuses for next year before finally dropping the plan. There also have been other rumblings in pro football with direct references made to the fabulous contracts being handed out to rookies.

"The football players," said Foss, "have their own organizations, they get the salaries of company vice presidents, they have a good retirement set-up, so what could be their beef?"

Then, the World War II flying ace and Medal of Honor winner added:

"I have been through two wars and may be headed for another. I have been in the service 35 years and I can't look forward to retirement advantages that these football players have after five years."

"When you get Hoffa or one of his aides saying this," said Ford, "you certainly aren't going to take it (organizing attempts) lightly. We will pursue the thing."

Baseball's new commissioner, Gen. William Eckert, said, "the players have their own organization. I have noticed only the finest relationship between players and owners."

In detailing what a union could offer pro athletes, O'Brien said job security and pensions would be major items.

Springs Halts Xavier Streak

spread Jim Murphy meshed another charity toss with 11 seconds on the clock, giving Springs a 60-55 lead, before XHS' Gene Jack closed the scoring for the night on a jump shot from the free throw line to make the final tally read 60-57.

Handwriting On Boards

The handwriting was on the backboard as early as the first period. Something unusual was bound to happen on this night. Xavier managed just one shot from the floor in the first 5:50 of the game, and only two field goal tries in the first six minutes. What happened? Well, four turnovers, two offensive (charging) fouls and four personals on the Ledgers that forced the Hawks to settle for three free throws.

Meanwhile, Springs raced to a 10-2 lead, launching 15 shots goalward in the process to just two Xavier attempts. Xavier tightened the count to 12-11 at period's end and, after a nip-and-tuck struggle in the next eight minutes of action the Hawks' carried a 2-point bulge, 29-27, to the locker room.

Throughout the first six minutes of the third stanza, Xavier maintained 4-6 point leads. Two baskets by Jack boosted the margin to 44-37, but Jim Murphy and Bob Johnson coined single free throws to cut the deficit to 44-39. Terry Graff's jump shot from the free throw line gave Xavier a 46-39 lead going into the final period.

Johnson dropped a pair of 30-foot set shots to narrow the gap to 46-43 with 6:47 left in the game, but Paul Rechner countered with a rebound goal and a layup, after taking a perfect fast-break pass from Tom Heinritz. A brace of gifts by Harbridge and Johnson's goal, again on a 30-foot set, cut the deficit to 50-47 with five minutes to play.

The Ledgers knotted the count at 52 on Harbridge's tip-in, and Rechner countered with a gift shot with 3:02 on the clock. Harbridge drove the baseline for two points and Springs' first lead after intermission, 54-53, but Steve Schmieder's perfect jumper from the corner put the Hawks on top by one point with 1:05 to play.

Just 13 seconds later, Harbridge again drove the baseline for a lay-up and, after being fouled, added the free throw for a 57-55 Springs' lead. Flasch followed with his free throws and Murphy with another before Jack found the range to close scoring for the night.

Flasch Tops Rebounders

Flasch helped the Springers to a slight rebounding edge by picking off 13 errant shots, while Heideman's eight rebounds topped Xavier.

Springs launched 60 field goal tries, hitting on 25 for 41.7 per cent. Xavier managed just 47 shots, of which 21 found the range for 44.7 per cent. It was simply a case of not enough shots.

The statistics may be misleading since the Ledgers were red-hot from long range. First Murphy, who finished with 12 points, then Tom Shaw, who tallied 15 for the night, and in the fourth period, Johnson, who totaled nine markers, took turns on the accurate long-range bombardment.

Jack paced Xavier's point-making with 19, while Heinritz and Rechner added 10 apiece. Heideman, the FVCC's third best scorer, was held to five points.

Jimmie Hall Gets Boost in Salary

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota Twins outfielder Jimmie Hall returned his signed 1966 baseball contract Friday.

Hall, who hit .285 with 20 home runs and 86 runs batted in for the American League champions in 1965, received a raise in salary, the Twins said. He will receive an estimated $22,000 to $25,000.

Foxes Shoot Only 24 Per Cent

Concordia Repeats Victory Over FVL

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Yesterday . . . was it Dec. 11? As far as Fox Valley Lutheran High School is concerned, it could have been — as Milwaukee Concordia defeated FVL, 70-61, for the second time this season in a Midwest Prep Conference tilt that could have been a rerun of the initial clash in December.

The Foxes were again favored to win Friday night and again played one of their poorest games of the season. FVL had a chance to pull the game out of the fire late in the fourth quarter but failed.

FVL came up with its worst shooting display of the season, hitting only 24 of 68 shots for 24 per cent. Their second worst field goal percentage of the season came against Concordia at Milwaukee when they hit only 30 per cent.

In the first quarter, the teams played on fairly even terms as the score was tied five times with the Falcons taking a 17-15 edge at the end of the quarter.

In the second period neither team could hit well from the floor. However, the Foxes canned seven of eight free throws to take a 32-30 halftime lead. (The Foxes also led by two at halftime in the first meeting.) Mark Dahlke and Dave Tiedt kept Fox Lutheran in the game in the first half, tallying 10 points apiece.

In the third canto, the score was tied four times before the visitors took the lead for good. With FVL ahead, 37-35, with 4:50 remaining, the Falcons tallied six straight to grab a 41-37 lead. The Foxes came back to knot the count for the last time at 41-41. After this tie, a defensive lapse by FVL saw Concordia record eight markers in a one minute span to hold a 49-41 lead with 1:29 to go in the period.

Fox Lutheran was able to cut that lead to four at the end of the quarter and trailed, 51-47. The early stages of the fourth stanza saw the two teams match point-for-point. The Foxes were still down by four at 61-57 with 3:21 to play. They were also down 64-59, with 1:49 remaining.

In an attempt to get the ball late in the quarter, the unorganized FVL defense allowed the visitors six straight points to give Concordia its biggest lead of the night, 70-59.

The visitors needed only 65 shots to coin 30 for 46 per cent. The Falcons had 50 per cent or better in all but the second period.

Only 11 Turn-overs

A full-court press thrown against the Falcons for the entire game didn't seem to bother them as they turned the ball over only 11 times throughout the contest while the Foxes lost it 21 times.

FVL's Dave Tiedt, although having a relatively poor night from the floor, converted 8 of 11 free throws to come out as the game's leading scorer with 20 points. Teammate Mark Dahlke added 17 and Tom Ehlke chipped in with 10.

Concordia had four players in double figures, led by Kurt Krueger with 18. Following him were Dave Pienning, Mike Tieman and Gary Pikalek with 16, 14 and 12 respectively.

First Division Teams Breeze to Victories in Little Nine Conference

Winneconne Rolls to 10th Straight Win; Kieffer Hits 34 Points

It was a case of the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer in Little Nine Conference play Friday night as the five first division teams registered easy victories over the bottom five.

Winneconne kept its unblemished league record intact by swamping Hortonville, 73-43, while second-place Omro dropped Hilbert, 76-66. Reedsville maintained its hold on third place with a 72-44 romp over Denmark.

Meanwhile, Brillion was rolling over Wrightstown, 83-59, and Freedom, sparked by Jerry Kieffer, who led the evening's scoring with 34 points, smothered Shiocton, 78-59.

Winneconne's Tom Nickel led the scoring against Hortonville with eight two-pointers and seven charity tosses for 23 points. His teammates, John Baitinger and Don Flanigan bucketed 15 and 14 points, respectively. Bruce Kluge scored 14 points for the losers.

The issue was never in doubt as Winneconne took a 9-point lead in the first quarter and steadily increased it.

The first quarter also proved decisive in the Hilbert-Omro game as the Foxes ran and pressed to take a 27-13 lead. Omro then became colder as the game progressed, but the closest the Wolves could come was the 76-66 score which ended the game.

Hilbert's Jim Diener led the scoring with 11 field goals and two free throws for 24 points. All five of Omro's starters scored in the double figures, with Mike Engstrom's 20 points setting the pace.

Reedsville was led by Bill Ebert, who tallied 23 points. Brillion was in control all the way as John Haun poured in 28 markers for the Lions. Neil Zastrow tallied 21 for Wrightstown.

Kieffer, enjoying his best night of the season, sparked the Irish win over Shiocton. The Chiefs' Gary Johnson chalked up 24 points.

If Unable to Play in Atlanta

Braves' Official Cites Bankruptcy Possibility

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A spokesman for the Braves has admitted the possibility of bankruptcy as the legal stew concocted in the wake of the team's shift to Atlanta summered on four burners.

"The company will be bankrupt" if unable to play in Atlanta next season, said Tom Reynolds, Braves' executive vice president, at a hearing in Fulton County Superior Court.

The hearing was on a request by the Atlanta - Fulton County Recreation Authority for a permanent injunction ordering the Braves to play their 1966 home games in Atlanta.

Judge Sam McKenzie took the motion under advisement.

While that motion was being aired in Atlanta, these developments were taking place elsewhere:

In Milwaukee, attorneys for the National League and the Braves moved to have Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller set aside his order requiring baseball to prepare to place a team in Milwaukee in 1966.

In Chicago, Roy Hofheinz, president of the Houston Astros, told attorneys that further National League expansion "should wait until we have absorbed the shock of the entrance of the Astros and the New York Mets."

And in Washington, a campaign was under way to persuade the House Judiciary Committee to hold hearings on a Senate - passed bill that would put baseball under the antitrust laws.

At the Atlanta hearing, Reynolds told McKenzie that the Braves had lost more than $3.6 million in its last three Milwaukee seasons.

Citing federal tax figures, Reynolds said the Braves lost $884,000 in 1963, $847,000 in 1964 and $1,912,000 last season. He said the club had already spent, or committed itself to spend, $500,000 in preparing for the 1966 season.

Reynolds did not specify whether the losses involved strictly operations or included such things as depreciation of ball players.

McKenzie, in delaying a decision on the motion, asked whether the Atlanta Stadium Authority could protect its bonding obligations by suing the Braves should they be unable to fulfill their contract.

In an affidavit filed in support of the motion, Fred C. Fleig, league secretary, argued that expansion of the league to 11 teams this season to include Milwaukee would be impractical.

Fleig said it would lengthen the season as long as three weeks. He also noted that when the league expanded to 10 teams in 1962 it was only after two years of planning.

In Washington, Rep. Glenn R. Davis, R-Wis., joined with Rep. E. Y. Berry, R-S.D., in urging Rep. Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., House Judiciary Committee chairman, to call hearings on a bill that would put baseball under the antitrust laws.

"Professional baseball," Davis said, "may not have ben big business when the courts decreed antitrust exemptions over 40 years ago, but the time has come for the courts, and if necessary, the Congress, to recognize what nearly everyone now believes baseball is — big business."

two more buckets and Mugrauer added another.

The Knights had a 21-10 lead at the end of the quarter and were never in serious trouble after that. St. John did reduce the lead to eight points in the third period, but the Knights added three quick buckets to boost the margin up again.

Hit 26 of 44

Lourdes banged in 26 of 44 shots in the game. Van Dyke was high scorer with 15 points and sophomore Dan Savinske was next in line with 14. Savinske, who came in as a reserve, picked up 10 of his 14 markers in the last quarter.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick, of the Chuters, used 10 players in the game and nine of them got in the scoring column. Fitzpatrick substituted freely trying to find a combination that would click, but the Dutchmen failed to get on the right track.

Janssen and center Lloyd Hackel, each had 11 points for St. John. Gary Romenesko had seven markers, but fouled out midway in the third period. The Chuters also lost Tom Felzer on fouls in the last quarter.

Both teams had trouble from the free throw line with St. John making 12 of 20 while Lourdes had 13 of 21.

Congressman John Race made an impromptu tour of Neenah's slough area Friday during his first office hours for Twin City voters. After the more than an hour's auto and foot trip he promised to investigate all avenues for federal aids to help solve the chronic drainage situation. Congressman Says He Will Investigate Aid for Slough

John Race, Neenah Officials Take Impromptu Tour of Waterway

NEENAH — A tour of the slough by Congressman John Race has given new life to the hopes of the city administration that a solution can be reached to the slough problem.

After surveying the area from Oshkosh to Neenah Friday morning the congressman said, "I have a much better picture of the situation and know more of what is being talked about."

The congressman from Fond du Lac, his personal secretary, James Callen, Mayor Carl E. Loehning, R. V. Hauser, city clerk-comptroller, Fourth Ward Alderman Wilmot Houpt, chairman of the slough committee, and Wayne Eckrose, city engineering department, made the tour.

After viewing the bridges at the Cecil and Adams streets crossings as well as at the Winneconne Avenue site, Congressman Race said, "I will investigate various means of federal aid that will be applicable to the slough and make a full report."

Ald. Houpt supplied the congressman with maps and plans for the slough which he will use in his presentations to various federal agencies in an effort to get relief for the situation.

Congressman Race said he learned a lot by seeing the area first hand. He was taken on a tour of the more than 20 acres that drain into the slough. He was shown the area on the south that drains into Lake Butte des Morts.

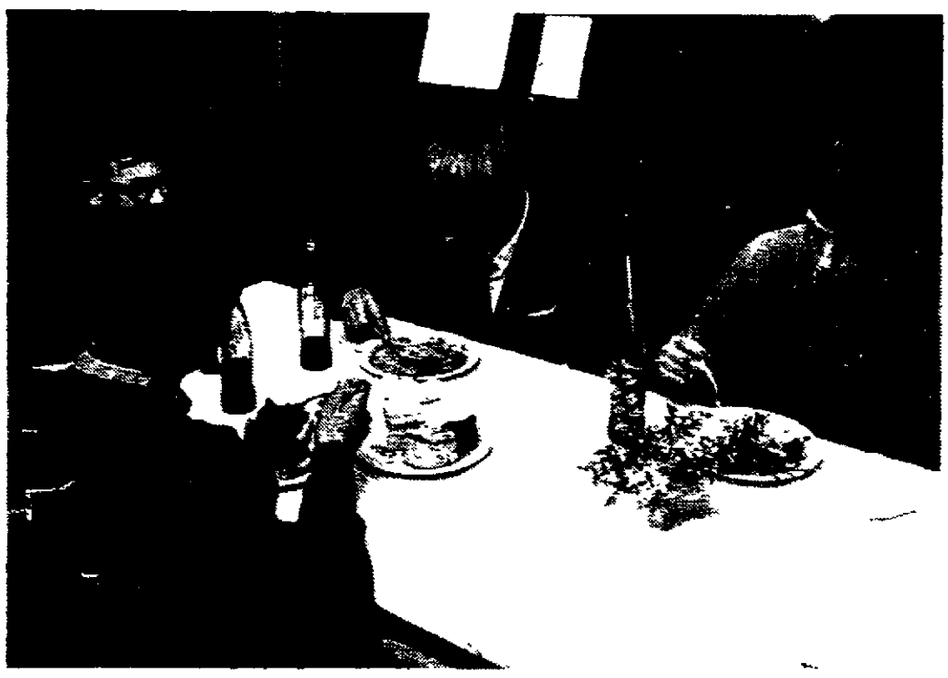
Ald. Houpt suggested of a flume between the Neenah slough and the drainage into the big lake as a possible solution to the stagnant water.

The slough has plagued the city for many years. It fails to carry enough water to drain properly. During the latter part of the summer, the water flow almost stops and the pools become stagnent.

Congressman Race approved of steps taken by the city to narrow the channel to a 40-foot width with a flood bank made of the present banks of the water way.

All agreed the solution to the slough problem was in having enough water to insure continual flow to eliminate stagnant pools and the breeding place of mosquitoes.

Understanding Was the Subject of a Brotherhood Week program in which youths from St. Mary's Catholic Church, St. Timothy Lutheran Church, First Congregational Church and St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Menasha, visited each other. "This communion tray is passed," John Robinson explains to Liz Swiontek, Mike Thelen and Carol Buksyk.



The Questions and Answers flowed freely at the conclusion of the tour when refreshments were shared at First Congregational Church. All reported "It was Great! Green Bay Discussion

New Wolf River Bill Will Be Put Before Congress

NEENAH-MENASHA — A separate bill will be introduced in congress this session to make the Wolf River a wild river, Rep. John Race (D-Fond du Lac) said here Friday.

Race had tried earlier to get the Wolf designated as one of six rivers in a national system of wild rivers but the bill still is in the House Interior Committee.

The Wild River System Bill that passed the senate did not include the Wolf as one of the original rivers to be designated as wild. Instead it was put on a list of rivers to be studied for possible future designation.

Green Bay Meeting

Race was scheduled to meet in Green Bay this morning to discuss the bill with Sen. Gaylord Nelson, Rep. Henry Reuss (D-Milwaukee) Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission Chairman Gordon Bubolz, Appleton, and representatives of the Menominee Indians.

The separate proposal would make 42 miles of the Wolf north of Keshena into wild river, reserving its use largely for the general public.

Nelson used the same technique on the St. Croix River when it appeared that the master bill would not make it through the house this session. Nelson then authored a separate bill to make the St. Croix on the western Wisconsin border into a national scenic waterway. His bill passed both houses.

Race said he had received the assurance of Rep. Wayne Aspinwall (D-Colo), powerful chairman of the House Interior Committee, that the bill will be passed out of committee.

Detached Bill

The reason Nelson detached his St. Croix bill from the master bill was the opposition of western congressmen, such as Aspinwall who he said are more water reclamation-minded than conservation minded. Nelson has predicted it would take five years to get the bill for a wild river system though the house.

Race held office hours at the Neenah Post Office Friday morning, receiving approximately 10 visitors, and in the Menasha Post Office in the afternoon where he received approximately five visitors.

He also took an impromptu visit of Neenah's Slough during the noon hour. It made up for cancellation of an earlier visit he had promised when Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall was in the area to view the Wolf and its environs as part of the wild river bill promotion.

Building Permit Value Holding Line in Menasha

MENASHA — Building permit values during January were approximately the same as those for the same period last year, according to the monthly report of Earl A. Kalm, building inspector.

Last January a major plant addition boosted the figure. This year the largest permit issued was one for the water filtration plant addition at $119,000. Other scattered construction brought the total for this January to $149,027.

A total of 40 permits for all types of construction were issued. They included two homes estimated at $26,000, filtration plant addition, repairs, $1,435, miscellaneous building $356, addition $236 and remodeling $2,200.

There were nine plumbing permits, four heating permits, two street excavation permits, five certificate of occupancy permits and 11 excavation permits. There were 13 excavation permits collected for the month of December.

Totals fees collected were $152.

Committee Picked For Volunteer Firemen's Dance

LARSEN — Fire Chief Melvin Smith appointed dance committee members at the 8:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the Clayton-Winchester Volunteer Fire Department. They met at the fire station at Larsen, with 28 members present.

Appointed to the dance poster committee were Leonard William McKinley, Raymond Rogers, Orin Prindle Sr. and Milton Boe.

Walter Plamann and John Uvaas were named to the dance committee.

Assistant Fire Chief Richard Cross said there will be a special meeting of the crew captains at 7 p.m. Monday to develop a training program.

On the luncheon committee were Lester Rasmussen, John Reinert, Lester Laedtke and George LaRue.

Businessmen to Meet Monday

NEENAH — A report by the nominating committee and selection of a 1966 chairman are main items to be considered by the Neenah Downtown Business group at 8 a.m. Monday in First National Bank community room.

Vern Duerrwaechter is heading a special committee planning "special" type promotions for the summer. Committee members include Jim Webb, Jim Smith, Iveaux Andersen Jr., Richard Half, Don Harrington and Jack Williams.

A dinner meeting, when the budget and promotion calendar is completed, also will be discussed.

Charge Menasha Youth In Store Burglary

OSHKOSH — Eugene Akstulewicz, 20, 641 Seventh St., Menasha, was charged with burglary of the Menasha Furniture Co. Store on Chute Street in Menasha when he appeared before County Judge James Sitter Friday afternoon.

His attorney asked for time to consider whether a preliminary examination would be desired. Proceedings were adjourned until Feb. 14. Akstulewicz was jailed in lieu of $500 bond.

Menasha police said the offense occurred Wednesday. Police said they apprehended a suspect leaving the building. On investigation, police said they found a vending machine had been tampered with but nothing had been taken.

PSC to Investigate Request of Utility

MENASHA — The State Public Service Commission announced today it will investigate the books of the Menasha Water and Light Utility.

The investigation will be a routine examination, without public hearing, to certify a set of depreciation rates used by the utility for the last several years. The utility made the application for certification Jan. 31.

Fire Damages Home Of Lebanon Family

NEW LONDON — Smoke damage resulted to the home of David Thoma, route 3, early Friday as the result of a chimney fire.

The New London Fire Department was called to the Town of Lebanon home at 6:34 a.m. and had to clean the chimney and use smoke ejectors.

Winarski Gets Approval to Seek Office

Menasha School Employe's Right Was in Question

MENASHA — The City Attorney's Office released an opinion today that cleared up the question of whether Erwin Winarski, a city employe, can run for the position of First Ward alderman.

One of the grey areas in state law is whether a city employe can hold public office — an office which might affect the policies governing his own employment.

City Atty. Richard Steffens referred the question to the legal counsel of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

The opinion of Julian Bradburt, legal counsel, with which Steffens agreed, said Winarski can run and can hold office, but only with certain conditions.

The league's opinion, Steffens said, "generally holds, and I agree, that an employe of the school board may serve as alderman on the common council, but that he must disassociate himself from voting on any activity that pertains to school matters, and most particularly the school budget."

Steffens said he only released the opinion after consulting with Winarski and incumbent First Ward Ald. Raymond Zielinski.

"Both of them agreed it was in the best interests of the people of the First Ward that the opinion be released prior to the election," Steffens said.

Winarski and Zielinski are the only two candidates in the April 5 city election for the First Ward.

The ruling of the league is not binding, but it is generally considered to be a good guideline.

Consulting the league follows "a long established practice" of the city attorney's office, Steffens said, "that whenever the integrity of the council itself is challenged or questioned, it would be in the best interests of all parties concerned to seek outside legal opinion, which cannot in any possible way be construed as interfering or influencing a local municipal election."

Redevelopment Authority Acts

Gruen & Associates Recommended To Do Menasha Master Planning

MENASHA — Acting with dispatch, the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) voted to recommend the selection of Victor Gruen & Associates as the master planner for the city.

The next step is for the recommendation to go to the city planning commission for approval. The commission must in turn vote on whether to recommend the selection to the common council for its approval.

If the councilmen vote in favor of hiring Gruen, the firm with drawing the comprehensive plan in Green Bay as well as several dozen other American cities, the planning work would start almost immediately.

Parallel Study

The authority's recommendation also included the hiring of Real Estate Research Corp., a Chicago-based firm of economists, to make a parallel study of the city's commercial potential — its ability to support various retail ventures.

Real Estate Research has told the authority it could start work as soon as the project is given the go ahead by the state and federal authorities that have to act on the city's application for federal planning funds.

Jerry Pollak, an associate partner of Victor Gruen, said his company would come in immediately to help the city in its preparation of the request for the federal 701 planning funds.

Gruen was the final choice of a planning consultant selection subcommittee of the authority. The choice narrowed to two firms in recent weeks. Gruen and Harland Bartholomew and Associates, St. Louis, Mo., the firm which just presented Appleton with its completed master plan.

Both companies appeared before the selection subcommittee in the last two weeks to make sales presentations.

Stresses Implementation

Pollak, a dark-haired, mustached architect-planner who has the ability to excite and enthuse listeners, said his company is oriented toward the implementation of its plan, and stressed that a plan on the shelf is not enough.

He claimed his company has been one of the most effective in pushing plans into structures, of steel, glass and brick.

During his sales presentation Wednesday, Pollak said his company was interested in the Menasha project only if it is to be "comprehensive, far-reaching and bold."

Gruen has main offices in New York City and Los Angeles and is starting a subsidiary midwestern office in Champaign, Ill.

Pollak will operate out of that office. His firm operates with planning teams, which bring in the necessary specialists out of its more than 300 employes. A traffic planner would be brought in specifically for that phase of the master planning.

Still to be negotiated with the planning firm is price and the exact scope of the project. Real Estate Research is expected to start its work on the economic feasibility study before Gruen starts, so a base of statistics is available.

The four commissioners of the authority present, constituting a quorum, also voted to dissolve the planning consultant selection subcommittee. Then a new committee of five men was named to work with the planner on setting up the planning program.

The Planning Program Committee will be made of the same four men who were on the selection committee: Allen Adams, Eugene Franchett, Robert Poss and Mayor John Klein, plus Douglas Gunderson, vice chairman of the authority.

Clyde Melcher wil meet with the group to represent the city planning commission.

At the close of the meeting, Mowry Smith Jr., honorary co-chairman of the authority, reminded the commissioners that they must "lean over backwards" to inform the citizens of Menasha about the progress of the new Menasha redevelopment effort.

Fire Fighting Support to be Meeting Topic

Aldermen Object To Advertising for Volunteer Workers

KAUKAUNA — A discussion on personnel needed for the fire department will be held at a joint meeting of the public protection and safety committee and police and fire commission at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the council chambers.

The fire and police commission has been advertising for men to serve as volunteers to augment the existing fire department. Some aldermen objected, saying they felt the commission was overstepping its jurisdiction and failed to keep council members informed on happenings.

An effort will be made at Tuesday's session to determine what course would be most beneficial to the community, the proposal to hire volunteers or to add additional full-time personnel to the department.

Employes Local Offer

Members of the City Employes Local have offered to serve as volunteer firemen since they are equipped with raincoats, boats and other equipment normally worn by firemen. They also said their knowledge of the location of fire hydrants and city streets would be an asset should they be needed.

The union offered to meet with council members to discuss their proposal and work out a pay agreement, should aldermen accept the proposal.

Firemen feel volunteers are inadequate and would not benefit the city, since the first few minutes at a fire are always the most critical and volunteers would not be immediately available.

Fire and police commission members feel the addition of volunteers would be a savings to taxpayers and also help reduce fire insurance rates in the community. Currently the fire department consists of 13 men, including the chief, and with days off, illness and other emergencies, the department often is left with four or five men on duty at a time.

Astor Hotel Fire Broke Out In First Floor Storage Room

All Eight Victims of Green Bay Blaze Have Been Identified

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The fire that took the lives of eight persons and destroyed the Astor Hotel Friday morning started in a storage room on the first floor.

Asst. Chief Les Bramer, although unable to tell exactly what started the blaze that was fought for eight hours by Green Bay firemen, said the flames originated in the eight-by-eight foot room, spread up the stairway through the attic and to the roof.

"We could tell by the burn marks just where the fire went up," Bramer said. He said it was too early to make an estimate of damage, although tentative estimates reached $150,000.

5 Men, 3 Women

The blaze claimed the lives of five men and three women. Carried from the ruins were the charred bodies of Edna Colle, 38, Luxemburg; Myrtle Meunster, about 62, barmaid at the hotel; Josephine Cox, about 48, address undetermined; David La Prairie, 26, Wisconsin Rapids; Joseph Ferris, early 60's, Green Bay; Frank Cornica, 42, Astor Hotel; Eugene Ungelter, early 60's, Green Bay, and Charles Gould, about 45, Madison.

Detectives and inspectors who probed the ruins Friday had not discarded the possibility of discovering more bodies in the frozen and mangled debris.

There is no record of anybody missing, but authorities said it was not unusual for somebody to register as a guest at the hotel and then have a friend or two join him.

Officials spent Friday removing valuables, luggage and other personal belongings from the wreckage. Police Chief Elmer Madson said relatives could claim belongings at the police station.

Wearing Locket

Identifications of the victims were made shortly after noon Friday. The body of Mrs Colle, an employe of a downtown restaurant, was so charred that it could not be identified by her husband, Peter. A locket bearing the initials of a daughter revealed her identity.

Four Hospitalized

Four people taken to Green Bay hospitals remained in satisfactory condition today. They are Emma Ramsey, 70, Green Bay; Elmer Anderson, 23, route 4, Sparta; Andrew Koeppel, 56, who lives at the hotel, and Emory Corn, 39, route 1, Oneida. All suffered cuts and bruises, shock and smoke inhalation.

A fireman, Robert Wautlet, suffered rib injuries when a cog on the aerial ladder slipped and struck him. He was taken to a hospital for X-rays and later released.

The Ferrari Wrecking Co. began tearing down the building Friday afternoon. William Ferrari said wrecking operations should be completed in about two weeks.

Faulty Wiring Not the Cause

Millard Vander Kelen, Green Bay fire inspector, today said there was nothing to indicate the fire had started from faulty wiring. Arson had not been ruled out, but there was also nothing to indicate that it had been started by somebody.

The closet in which the fire was believed to have started was used for storage of paint, varnish, mops and other materials.

Outagamie Park Outline Given Wolf Basin Planners

Proposal Calls for Seven Man Commission; Recommendations On Park Sites to be Presented

The administrative framework for the establishment of an Outagamie County Park Commission was submitted to commissioners of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission Friday.

The proposal calls for a seven - member commission, with four county board members and three citizen members.

The proposed framework will be presented to the county board's executive committee within the next several weeks. It originally was to have been presented to the committee Monday, but Alvin E. Woehler, the county's executive secretary, requested the delay.

5 Park Sites

Preliminary recommendations on five suggested park sites in the county will also be presented at the meeting. The location of these sites has not been made public to date.

Several weeks ago, the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission urged the county board to establish a county park commission and asked that the Fox Valley unit be given responsibility for directing the development of a park and recreation program.

The commissioners authorized the Wolf River Commission to enter into contracts with individual governmental units to provide assistance on special planning problems and projects. The services will be paid for by the governmental unit benefiting.

The commissioners also authorized William Morris, commission director, to make recommendations regarding applications for federal land and water conservation funds (LAWCON).

The authorization came after Morris told the commissioners the City of Oshkosh had submitted an application for funds to build a boat launching ramp.

Fund Applications

Applications for such funds must be created through an official planning agency, the county of which the municipality is a member and the State Conservation Department.

Morris will consult with county and city officials and other persons concerned with the project prior to making his recommendation to the state agency.

Muriel Edinger, chairman of the Wolf Plan Commission's tourist and recreation promotion committee, reported the commission will have information booths at two sports shows in Chicago in the next two months.

He also told the commissioners the committee plans to construct an information booth alongside U.S. 41 near Oshkosh. Edinger said the information booth would serve as a means to interest tourists in spending part or all of their vacation in Wolf River country.

Possible Sites

Possible sites are on land owned by Copps Shopping Center, which has offered to donate the land, and a wayside on U.S. 41, just south of Oshkosh.

Gordon Buboiz, chairman, presented the commission's program for 1966, outlining some of the projects for each of the member counties.

Emil Brandt, a member of the State Department of Resource Development, was cited for his 2½ years work for the commission in helping prepare its comprehensive plan. Brandt was resident planner and will be returning to Madison next month.

Appeal to Winnebago Board

Wolf Unit Urges Rejection of Plan

The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission at its ... Winnebago County ... to consider a proposal ... the county join the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

A resolution to that effect was adopted by the commissioners of the Wolf planning group at their quarterly meeting Friday.

Two weeks ago, Edgar Fisher, director of the Fox Valley planning unit, appeared before the Outagamie County Board executive committee and proposed the county join the planning commission. He told the committee members the ultimate goal was to have Calumet and Winnebago counties also join the commission.

'Cause Confusion'

The Fox Valley unit's proposal would "cause confusion" and be "detrimental to both commissions" and would also be "unworkable and unrealistic," according to the Wolf planning unit's executive committee and commissioners.

Duane R. Sweet, commission representative from Winnebago County and county supervisor for Neenah's 2nd Ward, said he "can't help but feel the Fox Valley unit's proposal has definite political overtones."

Oppose Proposal

Stanley Perkins, Medina, who represents the Town of Dale on the Outagamie County Board, also registered his opposition to the proposal. Perkins is secretary of the county board's agriculture and conservation committee.

The statement said that if the ... counties joined the Fox Valley ... there would be no end to the resulting confusion and ... actions to the progress that is well underway.

"To have two planning commissions covering the same entire area of the county would be comparable to having separate water district committees, county zoning committees and parks and recreation committees," it continued.

Program not Limited

The statement, which was submitted by Gordon A. Buboiz, commission chairman, noted that "the commissioners are aware that the Wolf River program is not limited to watershed planning, but to the entire natural resources and economic base of the counties."

It noted that the Fox Valley unit's responsibilities ... in providing services for the metropolitan areas of the Fox Valley.

"It is our recommendation that the present arrangement continue for the greater good of both commissions and the public," the statement concluded.

The executive committee of the Fox Valley unit will meet next Thursday to consider the dispute. At that time, it is expected the committee will request a joint meeting with the executive committee of the Wolf River unit to discuss the situation.

Requests Joint Meeting

Monday, the Fox Valley unit's policy committee called for an executive committee meeting in order to request a joint meeting with the Wolf River group's executive committee.

The policy committee also decided it would pursue its proposal to have Calumet, Winnebago, Outagamie counties join the commission despite opposition from the Wolf River unit.

The Wolf River unit is composed of eight counties: Winnebago, Outagamie, Forest, Langlade, Waupaca, Menominee, Shawano and Waushara.

Fox Unit Composition

The Fox Valley unit is composed of 12 municipalities in the Fox Valley area: the cities of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha; the towns of Grand Chute, Buchanan, Neenah and Menasha, and the villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly, and Little Chute.

Outagamie Solons to be Busy

Courthouse Union, Police Merger to Confront Board

Recognition of a courthouse employes union, consolidation of the sheriff's and traffic departments, plans for parking facilities at the courthouse and airport affairs make up what promises to be a busy Outagamie County Board session Tuesday.

Airport business, a topic at nearly every board meeting, is expected to center on the effects of the Jan. 18 ruling by the United States 7th District Court of Appeals upholding a Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) decision making Winnebago County and Green Bay sites of regional airports for North Central Airlines flights.

Last week the county board's airport committee voted to concur with a North Central request to the CAB for permission to end service to the Outagamie port at the end of this month.

Support Air Wisconsin

At the same time, the five-man committee indicated it would support Air Wisconsin, an Appleton airline with flights between the Fox Cities and Chicago.

At least one resolution from the airport unit will be submitted for action Tuesday. It asks approval to spend about $3,600 for purchase and installation of runway and "identifier" lights at the Outagamie facility. The high intensity lights would supplement existing lighting and would be used primarily during bad weather and low ceiling conditions.

Parking Proposal

Although it is not definite, a proposal may come from the public property committee asking board consideration for a plan to expand parking facilities at the courthouse.

Such a plan would leave about 35 feet of lawn in front of the courthouse, Esler said. The possibility of parking meters on the proposed lot also is being discussed, it was learned.

No cost estimate has been obtained, Esler said.

Remodeling Study

Supervisors let it be known at the January board meeting that any clearance to remodel the courthouse, as has been proposed at a cost of about $375,000, would have to be preceded by an extensive study of first providing adequate parking.

The county board's law enforcement committee may bring in a proposal calling for study of a plan to combine the sheriff's and traffic departments under a chief deputy who would be second in command under a sheriff. The chief deputy would replace the undersheriff.

The proposal last came before the board in December and was referred to a joint committee of the law enforcement and executive committees for study.

Police Training

Several plans have been suggested at recent committee meetings and a final proposal could come at a Monday meeting of the law enforcement and executive units.

James Miller, Green Bay, a representative of District 4, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employes, is scheduled to ask county board recognition of the Outagamie County Courthouse Employes Union.

Officers Elected

Temporary officers for the union were elected last week and a charter application has been sent to the state council. The charter application contained the signatures of 30 county employes.

County board officials have declined to speculate on reaction by supervisors to the request for recognition.

Tension Began to Mount in the Hammond Organ Studio Friday as 19 girls await their turn before the panel of judges in an elimination contest for Miss Appleton of 1966. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Miss Appleton of 1966

19 in Pageant; One Will Wear Crown

A 'petite pageant' was staged Friday evening, with 19 young women casting beguiling glances at the Miss Appleton crown.

The proceedings, held at the Hammond Organ Studio, were far less formal than the competition scheduled March 6 at Appleton High School. They were just as important, however. For each candidate is well aware that the climb toward the Miss America title is taken one step at a time, and that any one missed precludes all the others.

Eyes were a little brighter, voices a trifle higher and hands slightly trembling as the girls and their chaperones arrived for the competition to determine who will vie for the crown. The girls were called one at a time, to meet staging director Jack Burroughs, who told them where to walk and sit and introduced their talent performances. Each girl was asked typical pageant questions — one humorous, one serious — by master of ceremonies Don Smith, and then faced a panel of Jaycee judges, who questioned her further.

It was a long evening for the one who appeared last. It would have been the same for an audience, but the girls — all 19 — still had sparkle at 11:30 when the judges began deliberations.

There was variety in many ways, from tiny Eileen Washechek, a Xavier senior who wants to become an elementary school teacher, to tall Karen Timm, who wishes to learn fashion design.

There were some with fresh and natural looks, girls who kept their outward poise, though they may have been quaking inside, girls who displayed talent in singing and dancing, organ, dramatics and hair styling, girls who knew how to walk with grace and girls who made valiant efforts, girls who could express themselves and those so nervous they couldn't speak at all.

All shared a single hope — that of being chosen to participate in the 'Miss Appleton' contest that will select a successor to Miss Luane Briske. They will ride in a parade, appear in the stage spotlight, perform for hundreds, and have a chance at the local scholarship prize and a try for the Miss Wisconsin title.

Each girl knows it's uphill all the way, but the goal is certainly worth taking the initial steps to achieve.

And during the evening the girls became more aware of the tremendous effort that goes into such an endeavor, from the first local get-acquainted party to the last week in Atlantic City, and they noted the 'fringe' benefits that begin almost immediately, the acquiring of new poise, the assertion of stronger personalities and the meeting of new friends.

Even the losers took home something.

Chosen to participate in the main pageant were Gail School, Katie Christman, Jeanette Joiner, Valerie Schilling, JoAnn Hendrickson, Joan Koenig, Eileen Washechek, Barb Stiwanowicz, Linda Sturn, Gail Selig, Bardean Van Handel and Barbara Wessell.

The Apprehension and anxiety shows in the expression on Grace Wilharms' face.

Kaukauna, Kimberly Men Pay Traffic Fines

KAUKAUNA — Two men pleaded guilty of traffic violations resulting in accidents when arraigned before Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Thursday.

Melvin Brockman, 42, 419 S. Sidney St., Kimberly, pleaded guilty of driving at speeds not reasonable or prudent and was fined $25 and Thomas Zornow, 38, 312 E. Seventh St., Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of failure to yield right of way and was fined $10.

Big Trucks Banned From Meade Street

Complaints of truck traffic on Meade Street between Hancock Street and College Avenue were aired Friday at city hall.

Last week the city received a petition signed by 76 persons who complained trucks were using the street extensively.

At the request of E. C. Wolff, 821 Atlantic St., city officials arranged a meeting to discuss the problem.

Planner-Traffic Engineer Walter Rasmussen, Police Chief Earl O. Wolff and Alds. John Ayers (12th) and Derald Ahrens (2nd) represented the city, informing a delegation of five residents that "No Trucking" signs would be put up to help meet the problem.

Meade Street has a load maximum of 15,000 pounds and trucks using it are within the limitation. However, residents claim they are a hazard to school children in the area in addition to making noise and causing traffic congestion on narrow streets.

Barbershop Entered

Thieves Attempt to Crack Safe in Doctor's Office

An attempted safe-cracking at a doctor's office and a barbershop burglary were being investigated this morning by Appleton detectives.

The attempted safe cracking was at the office of Dr. Ralph Landis, 120 S. Oneida St. Police were notified of the incident about 6 a.m. by a janitor.

Three knobs were removed from hinges on the safe but entry was not gained, authorities said. A bottle of ink was poured over an examining table, typewriters, adding machines, and on carpeting in several offices in the building.

It was not immediately determined if anything is missing, detectives said. Entry could have been gained through one of several unlocked windows, they stated.

About $3.50 was taken from a cash register at Koennke's Barber Shop, 908 S. Oneida St., during the night. The burglary was discovered about 8 a.m. today by Harry Koehne, proprietor, detectives said.

Entry was made through a basement window. Several cabinets in the shop were opened, detectives said.
